F.B. SENDS WAR ENVOY ABROAD

By GEORGE DURNO

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—President Roosevelt today announced Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles was being dispatched to France, Germany, Great Britain and Italy "solely to advise the President and the Secretary of State as to present conditions in Europe."

Welles will be empowered to make no commitments in behalf of this government, Mr. Roosevelt emphasized in announcing decision to send the undersecretary abroad. He will carry no letters with him.

The brief announcement read: "At the request of the President, the undersecretary of state, Mr. Sumner Welles, will proceed shortly to Europe to visit Italy, France, Germany and Great Britain. This visit is solely for the purpose of advising the President and the Secretary of State as to present conditions in Europe."

TALKS TO BE SECRET

"Mr. Welles will, of course, be authorized to make no proposals or commitments in the name of the government of the United States."

"Furthermore, statements made to him by officials of governments will be kept in the strictest confidence and will be communicated by him solely to the President and the Secretary of State."

The President warned his interviewers they would do well to stand on the language of that statement and not try to speculate further, because the statement presented the situation as it existed.

An effort to question him on a possible peace "feeler" by Welles while he is abroad prompted the President to recall his earlier admonition to stick to the language of the statement.

CONGRESS NOT INFORMED

Welles will sail shortly—date unannounced—and will be gone as long as necessary, the President said.

Congressional leaders were not advised of this decision to send an emissary abroad because it was regarded purely a matter between the President and the Secretary of State, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Asked whether there was any possibility Welles would visit Russia and Finland, the President replied in the negative.

Another question was whether Welles would seek a personal audience with Chancellor Hitler. The President said he did not know—that it would be a pure guess.

WANTS INSIDE FACTS
Mr. Roosevelt explained his decision to send Welles to Europe by suggesting that three or four reporters, each in separate countries, might be sending back full information from their particular nation, but it might be a good idea on top of this to get one person who could see the whole situation so that one mind could give a composite report.

New Cold Wave Due Here Tonight

Oh, dear, just when New England was beginning to get her second wind in the moderated temperatures of the past few days—the weatherman came up today with a warning of another cold wave.

Tonight the temperature will start to drop, and before morning it is expected to be much colder, according to the forecast, with the lowest temperature near 10 degree.

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy, followed by snow. But cheer up—there are but 41 more days before March 21, the first day of spring.

100 NAZIS OUSTED BY TURKEY

ISTANBUL, Feb. 9 (AP)—Turkey may freed herself of another stigma of waning German influence by dismissing 100 German technicians while elsewhere in the Balkans and the Near East steps were being taken to avoid or prepare against any extension of the European conflict.

The Turks, acting under a decree "for the protection of national defense," gave the technicians who had been employed by the war and naval ministries, just 48 hours to leave the country, only yesterday Turkey had confiscated the German-owned shipyards on the Golden Horn.

While Turkey, non-belligerent ally of Great Britain and France, was making her moves, Rumania and Greece—who hold British-French guarantees paid in event their independence is attacked—also were acting.

HUMANIAN NERVOUS

Rumania, nervously attempting to steer a neutral course between conflicting German and British-French trade demands, put her commercial relations with the belligerents under a special new cabinet minister, Ion Cristiu.

She seeks to give neither side in the war cause for offense; at the same time, as a precaution against any extension of the conflict in the future, the national defense ministry ordered technically trained officers and non-commissioned officers to join the colors April 1 and youths qualified to become officers

Nazi Plane Shot Down in New Raid On British Coast

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP)—British fighting planes intercepted and shot down one of several German warplanes which raided Britain's east coast today and bombed and machine-gunned vessels off shore, the British announced.

The Air Ministry said a German bomber crashed near North Berwick, on the south shore of the Firth of Forth near its mouth and only 20 miles east of the big Scottish city of Edinburgh, after being attacked by British fighting planes.

Another German plane was engaged over the northeast coast, and still others attacked ships, although no damage was reported.

Three British pursuit planes were unable to catch one raider which machine-gunned vessels along the coast, and later two German warplanes bombed a ship off the Scottish coast and were believed to have escaped.

Reds' Thrusts Fail To Break Finn Line

HELSINKI, Feb. 9 (AP)—Continuation of Russian assaults on the Mannerheim line on the Karelian Isthmus, despite heavy Red army losses, was reported today by the Finnish high command.

In the Summa sector, where Russia claimed her forces had taken eight of 13 Mannerheim line forts captured in the last few days, the Finns said the invaders were repulsed with "heavy losses" while a number of attacks in the region of Pannumajoki and Anuri were "beaten off, the enemy losing about 700 men and 12 tanks."

Farther east on the isthmus, in the Taipale river sector, the army said, a battle precipitated by a "powerful attack" by the Russians "still continues."

Northeast of Lake Ladoga, where the Russians said the other five of the 13 captured forts fell to their forces—the army announcement said:

"Heavy fighting continued; the enemy has been repulsed at all points."

"All reports that the Mannerheim line has been broken or Mannerheim forts have been captured are untrue," a Finnish official declared.

The Russians lost on all fronts a total of 40 tanks, the communication said, and Finnish conquests included the capture of "a powerfully manned enemy firing point" northeast of Lake Ladoga.

In Central Finland, just below the country's waistline where the Red army failed early in the campaign to cut the nation in two, the Finns said:

"Our forces have improved their positions."

The Finnish air force yesterday "successfully bombed" Russian motor columns and troop concentrations.

Russian spies and fighters parachuting to earth behind the Mannerheim line harassed the Finns as they combated Red army offensives on four fronts.

(A Russian army communique last night said attacks on the Mannerheim line had resulted in the capture of 13 steel and concrete forts in the Hotinen and Summa areas of the Karelian isthmus. The report said "the enemy suffered great losses.")

FENCE RAIL IMPALES VICTIM IN EAST BOSTON AUTO CRASH

DEATH FOR DRIVER—Losing control of the car he was driving, swerving off road and ramming fence at McLellan highway and Boardman st., East Boston, Alfred Clark, 25, today was killed when top rung of fence, forced through motor by impact, struck him in the chest, crushing him. Here, the fence railing is seen imbedded in the wrecked vehicle. Clark died on the way to City Hospital, where surgeons said the timber passed through his body, severing several arteries, causing him to bleed to death.

Slays Wife After Balking Her Suicide

ELLSWORTH, Me., Feb. 9—A few hours before he shot his attractive wife to death in a frenzy of jealous rage, Arthur R. Grindle had blocked her alleged attempt to kill herself by hanging.

DOCTOR'S PLEA MAKES WOUNDED BOY SURRENDER

Listening to the earnest advice by a Roxbury doctor after a first panic and attempt at flight, an 18-year-old Roxbury youth, declared by police to have been shot while fleeing a cleansing shop break, waited today in the doctor's office until arrested.

The youth, who gave his name as Herman High of Elbert st., just around the corner from the doctor's office, had been shot through the left elbow, the bullet taking an upward course and entering his chest, where it was stopped by a rib.

At 3:30 a. m. today Radio Policemen James Brogan and Maurice J. Foley of Dudley st. station, dispatched to Humboldt ave. and Homestead st., Roxbury, on a neighbor's alarm that four men were breaking into a cleansing shop, surprised the four at their work.

DROP LOOT, FLEE

Dropping armloads of clothing, the burglars leaped into a sedan, with the officers swinging their car across Humboldt ave. in an attempt to block the flight.

The burglars' sedan, however, veered up on the sidewalk, side-swiped the police car and roared away. Patrolman Brogan firing two shots as they passed and Patrolman Foley blazing four shots after the sedan.

At 10:25 a. m. a youth entered the office of Dr. Franklin A. Myers, Harvard, 15, at 75 Humboldt ave. The visitor was in considerable pain and Dr. Myers found he had been shot through the elbow and in the chest, with apparently the same bullet.

After an examination, the doctor advised the youth to have X-rays taken at a hospital.

DOCTOR OUTTALKS HIM

"And of course I'll have to notify the police," said the doctor, "because this is a gunshot wound."

The youth, who had been reluctant to tell how he had been shot, rose and bolted for the door. Quickly the doctor blocked him and said:

"Look, young man, I'm not going to stop you if you really want to go. I want to talk to you just one minute. You're too seriously wounded to run away now and if you do it may mean your life. Take my advice and wait here, and it won't be quite as serious if you do."

The doctor then described for the youth just how dangerously he was wounded and what the effects would be if the bullet were not located by X-ray and removed before the wound became septic.

Finally the youth consented to stay, and Mr. Myers telephoned the police.

Officers took the boy to City Hospital, where, because of the length of time he had been carrying the bullet and because of the amount of blood he had lost, his name was placed on the danger list.

YALE'S OLDEST GRAD DIES

WATERFORD, Ct., Feb. 9 (AP)—Henry H. Gorton, Yale's oldest alumnus who observed his 100th birthday five days ago, died yesterday. He was graduated with the class of 1892.

Reigns at Bates

QUEEN—A senior at Bates College, Miss J. Carolyn Hayden of West Newton today was queen of the winter carnival crowned last night at a dance given in her honor.

Newton Girl Carnival Queen

She's the tops—

Is Caroline Hayden of Eden ave., West Newton, who today reigns as queen of the winter carnival at Bates College in Lewiston, Me.

The attractive girl, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayden, will preside over all events at the carnival with her court of six hardy-less-attractive maids in honor.

The carnival lasts through Sunday.

So Grindle was quoted by police today—on his 34th birthday—as he faced arraignment on murder charges in Judge William E. Whiting's municipal court.

Grindle told Sheriff Harold R. Hodgkins that his wife, mother of his six-year-old daughter, Clara, goaded him with alleged admissions of intimacy with a local man.

Declaring he "was driven to it," the part-time power company laborer said he pumped four bullets into her body.

The women's death was revealed when Grindle walked to the sheriff's office and informed Turnkey Wesley Herrick:

"You can lock me up, I just shot my wife. You'll find the gun on the washing machine, and here is the key to the house."

Sheriff Hodgkins found the gun—a .22-caliber revolver—on the washing machine, as described, and the woman's body lying face down on the living room floor.

According to Sheriff Hodgkins, Grindle drove his daughter to school yesterday morning. On his return, he said he couldn't find her in the house.

"I found her in the barn and she was stringing a rope over a rafter," he was quoted as saying by Sheriff Hodgkins.

"She told me she was tired of all these arguments and was going to hang herself. I told her she was crazy and to stop that stuff, and come in the house so we could talk it over."

"When we got in the house, we started to argue again, and finally I left, as I couldn't stand it."

Then, according to Sheriff Hodgkins, Grindle went to the home of a neighbor, where he borrowed a revolver to "shoot rats."

Back home, Grindle said the argument was resumed. During an ensuing struggle with his wife, the gun was accidentally discharged, the bullet grazing the cloth of his trouser leg, Grindle told police.

Then, according to Sheriff Hodgkins, Grindle said he again accused his wife of infidelity, and that she "accused" her alleged admission back at him.

"She taunted me and said she was going to continue going out with him whenever she wanted, regardless of how I felt or what I did," Grindle was quoted as telling the sheriff.

"That's when everything went red in front of me, and I couldn't stand it any longer."

WINTER CARNIVAL AT DARTMOUTH

HANOVER, N. H., Feb. 9—It's "Winter Carnival" time today in this tiny town nestled in the towering fastness of New Hampshire, and to thousands of girls arriving hourly by train and automobile it promises a winter wonderland of sport and romance.

Between icy statues of Indian guardians of the spirit of Eleazar Wheelock, Dartmouth's 2500 students stood impatiently awaiting the signal to begin the gay round of contests and parties which will transform this hamlet into a magic playground.

The day's program will but serve as a prelude to the crowning tonight of the Carnival Queen, selected from the 1200 feminine guests by Norman Rockwell, illustrator; Paul Sample, artist in residence; and Judge John McLane, a college trustee.

Daybreak found undergraduates still desperately battling to complete statues and arenas threatened by an unseasonable thaw. Canvases and binkies are being used to preserve the ice against warming rays of sunshine.

Central figure and theme of this 30th annual carnival of the Dartmouth Outing Club is a huge Red-skin statue in the center of the campus. The colossal, named Chief Kwanapikwa, stands 31 feet and draws a bow of 15 feet. His weight is given as 15 tons by the sculptor, Nat Sample, '40, of Chestnut Hill, Pa.

Debutantes and beauties from eastern cities will join girls from a dozen colleges in "taking over" this typically male town. Little support can be expected by the defenders from the invited athletes representing McGill, Middlebury, New Hampshire, M. I. T., Harvard, Amherst, Williams and Yale.

16 Catholic Bishops Urge U. S. Guild Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Out of the middle ages—when master and craftsman joined together in guilds to govern their trades—16 archbishops and bishops of the Catholic church in America drew today a plan "to abolish conflict between classes with divergent interests."

Declaring that "man is not an isolated individual living in a social vacuum," they proposed re-establishment of "some form of guild or vocational groups which will bind men together in society according to their respective occupations, thus creating moral unity." This, they said, is the ultimate remedy for "the class conflict which makes of the labor market an arena where the two armies are engaged in combat."

CHIEF PRINCIPLES

But with this economic remedy, the prelates emphasized, must come "the remedy in the spiritual order"

—a frank and sincere return to the teaching of the Gospel.

The statement on "the church and social order" was issued by archbishops and bishops who from the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, a clearing-house for Catholic action groups.

In brief, the document proposed these principles:

Social responsibility of property must be regulated by the state in order to distribute equitably the burden of providing for the common good.

Labor must be free to bargain

CHARGES POLICE LAXITY ON BEANO

City Censor John J. Spencer today placed full responsibility for violations of beano regulations, if any, on the shoulders of the Boston police department.

As the result of charges made yesterday by City Counciler Theodore A. Lyons of West Roxbury that beano operators were flouting the law and cleaning up $25,000 weekly, Spencer said today:

"At no time has the police department informed me of any violations of the beano regulations. The sole responsibility for enforcing these regulations is with the police. On every license I issue, a copy of which is given to police, there is printed thereon the regulations governing beano operations.

"I am surprised at the charges made by Councilor Lyons, particularly that a Roxbury building is daily and nightly being used for beano games.

"According to regulations, no building is permitted to be the scene of beano games more than once a week. The police are supposed to enforce these regulations."

It was learned today that efforts are being made to squelch any investigation of beano operations here. Lyons charged beano operators were going full blast in complete defiance of the law. He said his committee on ordinances would push its investigation.

It was said at City Hall the beano operators, who were closed down four years ago by Mayor Mansfield and who began operating again a few months ago, said they lost $1,000,000 during the period.

SOS Call Flashed By Sinking Steamer

Francis distress calls, marked by a repeated SOS signal, were received today by the Boston Coast Guard headquarters from a British steamer, the Sea Rambler, 450 miles off St. Johns, Nfld.

Officers of the ship reported a hatch stove in and said the vessel was taking large quantities of water.

BASEMENT ANNEX

"SOS . . . Shipping water through broken hatch. Vessels in vicinity please stand by. Urgent," the message said. When the Coast Guard called for additional information, the signals faded and no replies came back. Nothing was heard, either, from any ships in the vicinity which may be going to the aid of the 2327-ton freighter.

Later, the Mackay radio station at Thomaston, Me., reported it had intercepted a message from the Sea Rambler saying the vessel was holed, damaged by the heavy running seas.

Because of wartime conditions, it is possible ships are speeding to the vessel's aid with radio silent, Coast Guard officials said.

Radio experts at New England coastal stations pointed out that radio reception from the part of the ocean where the Sea Rambler is in distress would grow dim as the sun rose.

According to Lloyd's Register, the Sea Rambler was built in Dover, Eng., in 1930 and is owned by the Dover Navigation Co., Ltd.

The distress signals failed to reveal how the hatch was smashed.

Find B. & A. Rail Worker Killed

Apparently struck by a train, the body of Fred Miller, 35, off Hooker st., Allston, employee of the Boston & Albany R. R. in the Allston yards, was found today beneath the Cambridge st. bridge at the yards.

A fellow-employee, John C. Treadwell of French ave., Cohasset, found the body and notified police. They picked up one shoe and Miller's jumper several yards away, where they apparently had been carried after being ripped from Miller's body.

The body was removed to the southern mortuary.

Brookline Novelist Wins Appeal on Tax

Mrs. Olive Higgins Prouty of Boston and Brookline, author of "Stella Dallas" and other novels, today was adjudged the victor in Washington over the Internal revenue bureau when she won an appeal from a ruling seeking to make her pay $118,437 in gift taxes for 1933.

The board of tax appeals ruled the bureau was in error in determining that she owed that amount in connection with trusts established for her two children. It is claimed that she created three trusts totaling $1,123,272 and amended them several times.

The Internal revenue commissioner said she obtained power during her husband's life to alter, amend or revoke each trust and that this relinquishment of power constituted a gift.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems regularly in the Boston American.

REVEAL PELLEY RAISED $240,000

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

International News Service Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (INS)—William Dudley Pelley, the so-called "American Hitler" and leader of the Silver Shirt Legion, said his associates received at least $240,000 during the last eight years, Dies committee investigators disclosed today.

The committee opened the inquiry into the "profits" Pelley and his associates netted through organization of the silver shirts and other of his admittedly anti-Semitic and allegedly pro-Fascist activities, as part of its general effort to bare the huge sums propaganda organizations realize from public contributions.

The investigation into Pelley's affairs revealed 10 different bank accounts and a post office account at Asheville, N. C., the committee said. The bank accounts, included five in Asheville, two in New York, two in Washington and one in Knoxville, Tenn.

The committee intends to question Pelley about the source of some of the big contributions he received.

Richard Barker, committee investigator, said he traced receipt of $3800 from Sarah C. Scott, of Belmont, Mass., and $4600 from George B. Fisher, New York business man. Dr. J. R. Brinkley, the "goat gland" doctor of Kansas and Mexico, was listed as contributing $629.

Promising "sensational developments," acting Chairman Joe Starnes planned to recall Pelley to the stand later in the day.

Despite Pelley's denial that the Silver Shirt Legion armed its followers, committee members said they were prepared to disclose that a reserve army officer was hired to drill members of the Legion.

Rep. Voorhis (D.), California, said he wanted further evidence on the "question of connection" between the Silver Shirts and the German-American Bund after Pelley admitted that Silver Shirt literature was handled by Bund bookshops.

Rep. Casey (D.) of Massachusetts,

BACK from annual visit to England, Mary E. Channing, Boston society girl, poses for ship photographer as she arrives in New York.

Belmont woman tells Of Aiding Pelley Fund

Miss Sarah C. Scott of Essex rd., Belmont, today confirmed the report that she had contributed to William Dudley Pelley, chief of the Silver Shirt Legion, now being probed by the Dies committee at Washington, D. C.

"I have always been a student of esoteric things," she said. "I don't recollect that my contribution was $3800, as testified today."

Miss Scott was one of several persons Pelley named as contributing to his organization which sought, among other things, to remove all Jews from public office and rule the country.

OWN SON OPPOSES 3RD TERM

CHICAGO, Feb. 9 (INS)—Elliott Roosevelt was on record today against a third term for his father.

Following an address before a joint meeting of the Illinois Lumber and Material Dealers' Association, and the Illinois Builders' League in Chicago, the President's son was bombarded with questions, the first of which was "will your dad run again?" he answered:

"I don't know. But all the jobholders want him to. Personally, I think he shouldn't."

Other questions and Elliott's answers were:

"What do you think about the Dies Committee?"

"I think the committee has done a very good job and should be continued, even though some members of my family don't agree with me."

"What do you think of Garner?"

"I don't think he's as bad as Lewis said he is." (John L. Lewis, head of the CIO, recently called Vice President Garner a "whisky drinking, poker playing evil old man.")

"What is the difference between William Green, president of the A. F. of L., and Lewis?"

"Green wants to run the labor unions; Lewis the country."

"Do you think the power of Lewis should be curtailed?"

"There is no need to curtail it. You can do it more easily by laughing him out of power."

Three More Quizzed In R. I. 'Ride' Murder

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Feb. 9—Three more men were under custody at the State Police barracks in Lincoln today for questioning in connection with the "ride" murder of John J. Kennedy, gambler.

While police carefully shielded their identity, it was learned that the men, picked up by Providence police, were associates of the victim.

It was learned that the trio had often appeared at dice tables here and in Central Falls where Kennedy often gambled with them. Capt. Daniel G. O'Brien, heading the investigation, said the men "are not necessarily suspects."

What information Mrs. Catherine Kennedy gave police when she was questioned was not revealed, but O'Brien said:

"She was very co-operative." Although police have been hunting a week for some clue to the identity of Kennedy's slayers they admitted today they had made little progress.

They have questioned a number of his associates and friends, but have succeeded in getting little information which might lead to the apprehension of his murderers.

Just a week ago his body was found in an automobile. He had been slain in true gangland fashion.

Lyons Must Solve $50 Kitten Puzzle

Frank L. Sennott, acting mayor of Cambridge, left the $50-for-triplets question up to Mayor Lyons today. He checked by telegram to California to see if Josephine and her three kittens would get the prize offered by Lyons to the first mother using the Cahill Memorial House at Cambridge Hospital.

"The kittens may need that money later when they start to roam around, but just now they're well taken care of," a hospital supervisor said.

Three Indicted Over School Job

FALL RIVER, Feb. 9—Dr. J. Fred Keeley, vice-chairman of the school committee, and two school janitors were under indictment today charged with a $100 job selling deal.

Keeley, re-elected vice-chairman of the committee just last month, and a prominent dentist is charged with taking $100 in return for giving John W. Frain, Davol school janitor his job.

Frain was indicted for bribery and Arthur Mailoux, another janitor, is under indictment, charged with being the go between.

The indictments climaxed five months of investigation Dist. Atty. William C. Crossley today prepared to seek bench warrants for arrest of the trio.

BOSTON IS STILL GASPING AFTER FIRST LADY'S VISIT

Leaving a gasping, astonished Boston in her wake, the First Lady—or the Busy Lady—was headed for Washington today

For 18 amazing hours, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, mother, housewife, career woman, columnist, and—the latest, a woman of fashion—shook hundreds of hands, parried as many questions, made two speeches, attended teas and dinners, taking it all "in stride."

Mrs. Roosevelt, whose column in the Boston Evening American is widely read because of its simplicity, met all comers.

ANSWERS REPORTER

At one time, with a laugh, she answered a Harvard student reporter who sought her opinion on a bachelors club at Harvard which requires members to shun dates in the interest of higher marks.

"How long do these young men expect to refrain from the society of girls?" she asked. "You know, seriously, I'm a great believer in normal relations. You men might as well learn how to deal with difficulties and develop character."

In an address at Phillips Brooks House, Harvard she told 500 members of the Harvard Dames Society that there is not equal opportunity for the children of America.

Elected to honorary membership in the society, she became the first honorary member to be chosen outside of the ranks of Harvard faculty wives

SILENT ON 3D TERM

During a press interview, she adroitly avoided discussion of the third term question involving her President husband. She expressed belief that most of the complaints against working wives came from girls in industry who objected to employers preferring women with college educations.

In her talk before the Dames, she stressed the need of equal opportunity for education, declaring: "I meet clubwomen who say: 'Well, in our community when we find a child who has no clothes to wear to school, we give him clothes'—but these women forget or do not realize that there are whole communities in this great nation where there is no one who can give clothes to the poor, because no one has clothes enough."

"There are also communities where there is not enough money from taxes to even support a school."

One of the greatest problems the American woman must face in the future, Mrs. Roosevelt declared, is the question of world conditions for workers.

BEWARE PREJUDICE

"When the war now going on ends, given that we stay out of it, if we have the foresight in the interim to set up a good example, we will be able to offer the world a real democracy," she said.

"We will have no right to sit at a peace table unless we have achieved a true democracy ourselves and unless we can give the world an instructive example," she warned.

"Women must guard against judging any new situation in the light of emotional prejudice."

Fireworks Blast Panics Town

REDONDO BEACH, Cal. Feb. 9 (INS)—One man was reported missing and four men injured shortly before midnight when a Redondo Beach fireworks manufacturing plant blew up and was demolished. The terrific blast was heard for 15 miles and threw Redondo Beach and its neighboring communities into a panic.

At the same time, the ensuing display of pyrotechnics, seen for miles, drew thousands of persons from nearby Los Angeles to the scene, hampering efforts of firemen to get to the blaze.

Red Storm Rages In Youth Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Dies Committee, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gene Tunney were among those involved today in fast-flying charges and counter-charges of "Communist" which greeted 3000 delegates arriving for the American Youth Congress.

A recent White House gathering at Mrs. Roosevelt's invitation, where a group of Representatives and Senators met the organization's leaders, provoked the opening barrage in the verbal warfare. Rep. Keefe (R.) of Wisconsin, told the House yesterday that 16 of the 27 Democrats at the meeting were among the 21 who had voted against continuance of the Dies Committee.

"I regret," Keefe said, "that the newspapers carried the story that the First Lady of the Land defends the rights of Communists in the American Youth Congress."

Rep. Pierce (D.) of Oregon, who told the House that he attended the meeting, retorted:

"Certainly Mrs. Roosevelt appeared to be motivated solely by desire to have members of Congress express themselves fully for the benefit of the young people."

"There was no debate on merits or demerits of Communism. That charge is only a peg on which to hang unfair attacks."

The House debate was followed by a statement signed by Gene Tunney and four other persons saying that the Youth Congress "is unduly influenced by the Communists and seeks to lead American youth into unconscious alliance with the Communist United Front."

Leaders described the Congress as a clearing house and co-operative center for all youth organizations.

collectively in order to protect its rights; but the principle of force is wrong when used by either labor or capital.

Industry and society must accept jointly the responsibility of security for the workingman against unemployment, old age, sickness, accident and death.

A living wage is the first claim of labor, to provide not only decent family support but to make savings possible. Some wage increases, however, "come not out of the profits of the wealthy but out of the increased prices for the poor."

RESPONSE TO POPE

In "The Church and the Social Order," a 34-page statement on conditions in the United States, the prelates presented what Catholic sources considered their response to the recent encyclical which Pope Leo XII addressed to the church in the United States.

The national Catholic welfare conference called it "the most important utterance made by the Catholic hierarchy since the bishops' program of reconstruction of 1919."

Surveying the entire field of economic life, the prelates said:

"It is manifestly impossible to expect good economic order if wages, prices, working condition and the public good are left to chance or to the haphazard methods of so-called free enterprise."

While the state cannot be relegated to the role of mere policeman or umpire, however, the prelates declared, "the state has been encumbered with all the burdens once borne by associations now extinct."

HUMAN WELFARE FIRST

"In conformity with Christian principles," they said, "economic power must be subordinated to human welfare, both individual and social; social incoherence and class conflict must be replaced by corporate unity and organic function; ruthless competition must give way to just and reasonable state regulations; sordid selfishness must be superseded by social justice and charity."

Chief qualifications of the "guilds," the prelates said, are that "they are autonomous, embrace whole industries and professions, are federated with other constituent groups, possess the right of free organization, assembly and vote, and that they should dedicate themselves to the common good and with governmental protection and assistance function in the establishment of justice and the general welfare."

The prelates said the state itself and the existing free organizations of economic life should prepare the way for this "ideal type of vocational groups."

R. I. BISHOP SIGNS

Prelates who signed the document were:

Samuel A. Stritch, archbishop of Chicago (chairman); John Gregory Murray, archbishop of St. Paul; Joseph F. Rummel, archbishop of New Orleans; John Mark Gannon, Bishop of Erie; Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of Pittsburgh; Francis C. Kelley, Bishop of Oklahoma City-Tulsa; John B. Peterson, bishop of Manchester; Edwin V. O'Hara, bishop of Kansas City; John A. Duffy, bishop of Buffalo.

Edward F. Hoban, bishop of Rockford; Emmet M. Walsh, bishop of Charleston; Karl J. Alter, bishop of Toledo; Charles Hubert Le Blond, bishop of St. Joseph; Francis P. Keough, bishop of Providence; Walter A. Foery, bishop of Syracuse; Bartholomew J. Eustace, bishop of Camden.

"We must bring God back into government," they declared, "we must bring God back indeed into all life, private and public, individual and social."

Senate Clears Way For Arms to Finns

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—While the Senate cleared the way today for action on legislation to make possible a $20,000,000 military loan to Finland, the administration was reported considering the sale to Scandinavian countries of surplus arms left over from war days.

President Roosevelt conferred yesterday with Secretaries of War, Navy, and the Interior, and the decisions were said to have concerned the advisability of disposing of surplus army and navy guns.

Abwegian official mission has been acquiring into the possibility of phasing artillery in the United States. Prince Bertil, son of the Swedish crown prince and head of a Swedish purchasing mission, also has received by Mr. Roosevelt. Turkey has on hand hundreds of guns and large stores of rifles since the World War.

The Committee reported last year that the Army had about 3500 millimeter guns, mostly of French origin, and officials testified only 313 of these were needed active units.

Officials said that Mr. Roosevelt has authority to declare the surplus material and to be subject disposal.

Support for the Finnish loan action was evident in the Senate. The bill, by Senator (D.) of Michigan, would double $100,000,000 capital of the Export-Import Bank.

Nevertheless, Senator George (D.) of Georgia, announced opposition to the proposal on the ground that it would constitute a step "which inevitably link us with the European war."

"I am not in favor of taking any money out of the Treasury at this time," George added.

The bank increase would be financed by the RFC, but economy advocates have contended that if there were any losses on loans, the Treasury eventually would have to make them good.

Ex-Marines Urged To Join League

The monthly business meeting of the Theodore Roosevelt Detachment, Marine Corps League will be held next Tuesday night at the Soldiers and Sailors Club, Fayette street.

A report will be made by the membership committee which is in the midst of a drive for new members. All former marines with honorable discharges are eligible. Joseph Alvarez, commandant has invited all ex-Marines to join.

Brother, Sister Perish in Flames

MUSKEGON, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—Trapped on the second floor, eight-year-old Roger Kueny and his sister, Mary Jane, 7, died in a fire which destroyed their home north of here.

The father, Leo Kueny, rescued a third child, Victoria, five, while the mother escaped from the first floor with a four-month-old son.

PROWL CAR AIRCAST COSTS $500

MILLBURN, N. J., Feb. 9 (AP)—Patrolman Philip Pierman, Jr., who engaged in an unintentional December night broadcast with a young lady from a radio car, was fined $500 and deprived of days off for four months by the township committee tonight after he pleaded guilty of six charges of neglect of duty.

The municipal chamber, capacity 100, was packed with spectators an hour before start of the hearing on charges brought by Police Chief C. Norbert Wade. Proceedings were cut short as Pierman entered his plea and thus the text of the broadcast remained an official secret.

Stewart said they had taken into consideration the three citations for bravery Pierman had received during his 10 years as a policeman.

Pierman explained to the committee that he did not know he had left his radio transmitter turned on after making a routine report to headquarters on last Dec. 14.

He said he then stopped at a bar, where "an unknown young lady asked me and I took her in the police car to drive to the Millburn (railroad) station. At no time during the 15 minutes when the young lady was in my car, did I park my car with her in it."

Pierman said he turned the transmitter off when another police car stopped him on the way to the station and told him the conversation in his car was being broadcast to headquarters as well as to any person tuned in on the Millburn wavelength.

HENRY

MELROSE HONORS SKIPPER OF FLINT

Melrose paid the greatest tribute in its municipal history to Capt. Joseph A. Gainard, skipper of the City of Flint.

More than 2500 Melrose residents joined with state, municipal, naval officials and veterans organizations in honoring the "No. 1 citizen" at a public dinner and reception.

The stern-visaged Yankee captain, who brought his ship safely through Europe's war-torn seas, was presented a gold watch and chain at a banquet attended by 500 persons at Calvin Coolidge School.

A basket of gladioli, so large that it took two men to carry it, was also presented to Capt. Gainard and his wife by the Melrose Lodge of Elks.

At the reception which followed at Memorial Hall, Capt. Gainard received a gold citizenship medal, awarded by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and an engrossed set of resolutions passed by the city government.

Among the speakers at the reception were Mayor Robert A. Perkins, Sen. Angier L. Goodwin, who brought a personal message from Gov. Saltonstall, Ex-Sen. Charles M. Cox, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, Capt. Thomas B. Thompson, U. S. N., and Ralph W. Childs, a survivor of the Athenian sinking.

Kin Says Wife Made Adams Don Smock

Domination over the late Charles E. Adams, aged and wealthy Boston silk manufacturer, was exercised by his late wife—and once she put a smock on him, "greatly to his embarrassment"—according to a deposition read today at the Adams will trial.

Heirs and the administrator of Adams' will, Atty. Edward J. Cousin, are attempting, through the suit in probate court, to void a $1,250,000 trust for benefit of Harvard and Technology students, set up under the aged manufacturer's will.

It is charged in the suit that Adams set up the trust under duress by his late wife, Mrs. Caroline J. Adams, and the First National Bank of Boston, and that his purported signatures on the trust instrument are forgeries.

The deposition read in court by Atty. Thomas D. Lavalle, representing the administrator, was made March 17, 1939, by Mrs. Adams' nephew, James C. Adams of San Luis Obispo, Cal., who revealed in it that the aged Adams called his wife "Johnny."

The deponent, who was appointed guardian over the retired manufacturer in 1936, declared in the deposition that he believed fraud had been exercised in handling

Charles E. Adams' affairs. In answer to one question, the deponent replied in his deposition.

"I saw a letter written by her (Mrs. Adams) requesting that he (Old Adams, vice-president of the First National Bank) write Adams about some of the affairs so as to make him think that he was still handling his business."

Q—That's a request from Mrs. Adams to Mr. Olsen to write a certain letter to Mr. Adams? A—I remember that letter—yes.

Q—Do you remember whether or not he wrote such a letter to Mr. Adams? A—I don't know.

Nephew Adams then told of an incident in 1932 at Santa Barbara, when the aged manufacturer, just outside the house, was talking about his past, stating that he had not retired from business until he was 80.

Mrs. Adams, said the deponent, interrupted and ordered her husband into the house.

Daladier's Answer To Nazi Spies Ready

PARIS, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Chamber of Deputies went into a secret session today to discuss the government's conduct of the war after Premier Daladier had disclosed recent raids on Gestapo (German secret police) offices in France.

Daladier said the raids had disclosed an elaborate questionnaire had been sent to the agents from Germany.

The premier told newspapermen that the questionnaire directed the German agents to report on the attitude of the French people to ward England.

"It is today's session of Parliament which will answer those questions for them," The Premier declared.

Daladier disclosed that among the questions asked the German agents were:

"Is Daladier liked by the masses? What is his prestige? What would be the result of a vote of confidence? Who are Daladier's friends? who are his adversaries?"

OTHER QUESTIONS

The premier said other questions asked what confidence France held in her Arab populations, in her "black troops," and the strength of the French police.

The vote for secret session was 232 to 227.

War-time censorship, over which dissatisfaction has been shown recently, was scheduled for criticism from journalist members of the Chamber.

Changes have been made that censorship has been unnecessarily severe and inefficient.

FIRST IN 22 YEARS

The secret session was the Chamber's first in 22 years—since the last year of the World War. During the four years of that war only three such sessions were held.

Edouard Herriot, president of the Chamber, ordered the galleries closed of all spectators and newspapermen. Even the corridors of the Bourbon Palace and rooms adjoining the chamber were vacated, and ushers were posted to prevent any "strangers" from approaching.

Chamber employees were warned that disclosure of what took place during the session would bring severe penalties. Premier Daladier himself previously had reminded the chamber that 24 hours after a secret session of the British House of Commons a few weeks ago a full account was published in German newspapers.

SO. AFRICA VOTE AIDS PEACE BID

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Feb. 9 (INS)—A surprising election victory was registered early today for the forces advocating immediate negotiations for peace between the British Dominion of the South African Union and Germany.

In the first by-election for the South African Parliament since the European war broke out, a candidate who ran on former Premier J. B. M. Hertzog's peace platform won by a majority of 913 over his opponent who supported the present premier, General Jan Smuts, and his war policy.

The victor was P. J. Olivier who polled 3255 votes as against 2312 ballots cast for his rival, T. J. Melville. This election was held in the constituency of Kuruman where, admittedly, a considerable number of voters are of German descent.

Despite the latter fact, the outcome of the voting, which took place yesterday (Thursday), was regarded throughout the South African dominion as significant. This was because the issue was clear-cut between war and peace and the campaign was fought out on that basis.

2 U. S. NUNS SAW POLE MARTYRS DIE

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Two American nuns of the Franciscan Order, who were in a convent 16 miles from Warsaw when the Germans invaded Poland last September, said today on their return here that Adolf Hitler had visited the convent and from a church spire had viewed the results of bombardment.

The nuns, Sister Bogumila and Sister Innocencia, were in Poland 17 months. They said they returned to the United States because their passports would expire in March. They arrived in the Italian liner Saturnia en route to the order's convent at Lodi, N. J.

Sister Bogumila said there were seven other American nuns at the convent, which was established and operated with American funds, when the drive on Poland started.

POLES "GOOD MARTYRS"

The nuns made an American flag, about 20 by 15 feet, out of pieces of cloth and painted white stars on the blue field. This they hung, with signs proclaiming the nationality of the convent, on the walls.

The German staff established headquarters at the convent, but the nuns were not molested and were, in fact, paid for the food the Germans ate, Sister Bogumila said.

Hitler was taken up into the steeple, she said, because it was one of the highest structures in the vicinity and Warsaw could be plainly seen.

"No words can describe the bombardment," Sister Bogumila said. "It was hellish! Dear God, they are all good martyrs, those Polish people!"

The troops that the nuns saw were mostly Russians and Austrians, she added, and "were very nice to us."

NUNS NOT MISTREATED

She said she had read the report of Cardinal Hlond of Poland to the Vatican describing anti-religious activities of the Nazis, but thought that "most of those things happened in Prussian Poland and in the Danzig territory."

"None of the sisters in Warsaw or Cracow were molested in any way by the Germans," she continued. "I don't know what happened elsewhere but I understand that our sisters in the Danzig vicinity were not as fortunate as we, and had to give up their garb and wear ordinary clothing.

"There are about 700 Franciscan nuns in Poland, 250 of whom are in the territory taken by Russia. We don't know anything about what happened in what is now the Russian part of Poland."

During Hitler's visit to the convent church none of the nuns was allowed in the church, Sister Bogumila said. But she knew he had stayed about half an hour. Both she and Sister Innocencia were hesitant about talking to reporters, saying they feared the Nazis might "take revenge" upon their sisters in Poland.

"At the convent we took care of the injured as much as we could," Sister Bogumila said. "Our church was partly damaged by Polish guns because we were in the line of the defense fire by the poles."

U. S. CONSULATED AIDED

"The German soldiers and officers helped us to obtain food, and they brought to us children whose parents had been killed. I can't exaggerate in saying how nice they were to us."

Sister Bogumila said the Amer-

Denmark Fears Worst Freeze-In

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 9 (AP)—Fear that Denmark might be completely isolated by the worst "ice blockade" in years was expressed by shipping circles today. The nation already is suffering from an acute fuel shortage.

Numerous ships were caught in ice-packed Danish waters.

Copenhagen evening newspapers carried such headlines as "Ice Situation Now Catastrophic."

can consulate in Warsaw was of great help to the nuns, and gave them a letter of protection to show to German officers.

When she left Warsaw on Jan. 14, she and Sister Innocencia traveled to Italy by way of Vienna, she said. They wore their habits all the time and never had any difficulties with German officials. Sister Bogumila was assigned to the convent as an executive. She did not teach there, explaining that none but Polish citizens was permitted to teach.

TURKS EXILE MORE NAZIS

to join the army "for training" by Feb. 15.

Greece sent Undersecretary of State Nicoloudis flying to Egypt at a time when France's Gen. Maxime Weygand and Britain's Lieut.-Gen. Archibald P. Wavell were there inspecting part of the allied concentration, estimated at half million men, in the Near East.

Dispatches established no direct connection between the two events, but Athens significantly disclosed a declaration two days ago by Greece's premier and strong man,

Gen. John Metaxas, in a speech that Greece faced the danger of being drawn into war.

(The allied concentration—chiefly in Syria, Egypt and Palestine—has been described as ready to be launched into the Balkans in case of a German thrust there or to guard against any Russian drive against Turkey.)

Turkey's dismissal of the German technicians may be followed by the discharge of others.

VON PAPAN TO PROTEST

The blanket discharge, coming one day after Turkish seizure of the German-owned Krupp shipyards here, applied to 29 marine specialists at the Turkish naval base of Geydjuk on the Sea of Marmora; 20 technicians at a munitions factory near Ankara, and 50 others active in Turkey's military preparations.

Officials said that henceforth no German could work in state-owned industries. This was believed to affect several hundred men in addition to those discharged today.

Reports that Germany's ambassador, Franz von Papen, had been directed to make a sharp protest against the shipyard's confiscation were answered in government circles with the assertion that Turkey was within her legal rights.

Confiscation of other German property in Turkey was expected "sooner or later" in informed circles, which saw the once-trusting German influence in Turkey waning since Turkey's alignment with Great Britain and France.

HUNDREDS FACE EXILE

It was expected that hundreds of German experts employed in Turkey would be discharged and sent back to the Reich. They have been active as government advisers, factory technicians and professors in Istanbul University and Ankara Agricultural College.

In Berlin, authorized German sources said confiscation of the Krupp shipyards was likely to result in nothing more serious than diplomatic words and more emphatic press comments.

(Germany regards the Turkish act as inspired, if not demanded, by Great Britain and France, but will not be provoked, these sources said.)

Declining to explain the seizure, official Turkish quarters remarked only that "spring is coming."

Many observers have expressed fear that spring will bring a German or Russian thrust into the Balkans to seize the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus, which link the Black sea and the Mediterranean.

Britisher Says Finns Can Gain Air Mastery

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Sir Walter Citrine, secretary of the Trades Union Congress, just returned from a tour of Finland, said today the Finns "may gain the mastery in the air" if planes now earmarked for them are delivered within six or eight weeks.

Reds and Nazis Smash Revolt

LONDON, Feb. 9 (INS)—German Gestapo (secret police) contingents helped Russian troops crush an Ukrainian revolt, killing hundreds in the former Polish Ukraine now occupied by the Soviet. It was declared here in a Budapest dispatch published by the London News-Chronicle.

The dispatch said the uprising against Soviet rule was staged by Ukrainian peasants in the Tarnopol area not far from the new Soviet German boundary that runs through what was formerly Poland.

Finding three Russian army regiments to have been withdrawn from the Tarnopol district for service on the Finnish front, the Ukrainian peasants dug out their hidden firearms last Sunday and attacked the OGPU (secret police) units left in the area to maintain order, the message related.

"CLEANUP" IN SOAP DEAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Soap heads the long list of purchases made in this country by Finland as the result of a $10,000,000 loan negotiated some time ago. "They said they wanted to clean up the Russians," Jesse H. Jones, loan administrator, told reporters.

Chums Hail Hero, 10, In Ice Floe Rescue

Playmates today hailed as a hero 10-year-old Clifford "Buster" White of Water st., Dorchester, who pulled a chum from Neponset river although himself still suffering from effects of infantile paralysis.

Richard Tully, also 10 and living nearby in Water street, was pulled to safety as he clung to ice floes after falling through crumbling ice on which the boys were playing. "Buster," who passed off his bravery with the words, "Gee, I had to help him because he was my pal," vied with Richard in no danger said he and his chum would spend their afternoons guarding other children from a similar mishap.

They were walking on the frozen river under the railroad trestle near the Frost Coal Co. wharf and were far from shore when Tully suddenly broke through and went down. White was frightened but didn't lose his presence of mind.

Throwing himself flat on his stomach he edged up until he could grasp the hands of his companion, clinging to the ice. Slowly he drew him back on the solid surface. Then the two boys raced to shore. There Norman Gunderson of Verdale rd., Milton, noted Tully's plight, took the boys in his auto and drove them to their home.

Set Logan Estate Hearings Feb. 26

Judge Frederick J. Dillon in Suffolk probate court assigned for hearing Feb. 26 two petitions asking that Theodore M. and Francis V. Logan be required to post new bonds, with sureties, as administrators of the estate of the late Lawrence J. Logan.

The action was brought by Garrett S. Hoag, director of liquidation in the state bank commissioner's office.

FRENCH STEAMER SUNK

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP) — The French steamer Marie Dawn, 2156 tons, has sunk in the North Sea after striking a mine. The 25 crewmen, mostly Senegalese, were landed at a British port.

POLICE SAFETY EXPERT KILLED

HOLYOKE, Feb. 8—On his way home from a highway safety meeting at which he had been the principal speaker, Corp. Albert T. Hayes of the Massachusetts state police was involved in an automobile crash here today that cost his life.

Earl McMurray of Southampton, wealthy Holyoke paper manufacturer, also may die as the result of injuries received in the smash-up involving his and Hayes' cars, doctors at the Providence Hospital in Holyoke said.

Hayes, 38 years old and a native of Holyoke, was safety officer of the state police in Western Massachusetts and was attached to Pittsfield barracks.

At a conference meeting in Easthampton he had been principal speaker, talking on the subject of safety.

On his way home later his machine and McMurray's car collided at the intersection of Dwight st. and Fallie ave., injuring Hayes so badly he died at Providence Hospital three hours later.

McMurray, unconscious, was found to be suffering a fractured skull and other injuries and his name was placed on the danger list.

State and local police officers began an investigation into the causes of the crash.

THE NAVAL EXPANSION BILL OF 1940, which is now in process of study and enactment by the Congress, is being given a degree of cautious scrutiny which all believers in adequate provision for NATIONAL DEFENSE ONLY will applaud.

The House Committee on Naval Affairs, while omitting no essential construction and in fact approving all of the ships that can possibly be taken care of by existing Navy yards and the private shipbuilding industry, virtually HALVED the maximum demands of the Navy Department.

It has become increasingly apparent to the Congress that the present national administration is seeking to provide for much more than the true defensive needs of the country, and if given the Navy it asks for would have a Navy adequate for aggressive and militaristic purposes beyond all conceptions of strict American need.

The Hearst newspapers have always been vigorously in favor of adequate preparedness, but have never advocated that the United States become a militaristic nation.

They have never believed, as responsible spokesmen for the New Deal have often contended, that the United States should have a Navy strong enough to defend South America as well as North America.

They do not believe that the American Navy should be large enough to outnumber the ships of ANY COMBINATION of militaristic powers.

There is no remote possibility that the United States will ever need such a Navy.

Moreover, the United States could not possibly afford such a Navy.

But once acquired, such a Navy would make the United States THE GREATEST MILITARISTIC NATION IN THE WORLD.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE are not a militaristic people. They do not want to be a militaristic nation.

Yet that is what certain military men and certain NEW DEAL PROFLIGATES desire and demand, as the extravagant and pompous Naval program they propose attests.

Too much militarism is not good for democracy. Too great armed forces may be designed for use against foreign powers.

But they might easily be used to DESTROY DEMOCRACY at home and to install despotism.

They constitute one of the essential steps by which despotism takes control of a nation.

As history amply proves, the successive steps toward dictatorship are always these:

First, the institutions of democracy are disparaged, and called the relics of the oxcart period.

Second, there is concentration of powers in the hands of the executive.

Third, there is prolongation of the tenure of executive office.

Fourth, a vast military establishment is created to support the executive in his arrogated powers and in his protracted tenure of office.

Then, as the final steps, there is abolition of all popular powers and rights, destruction of all liberty and democracy, and finally the purge of all opponents so that tyranny may stand unchallenged—arbitrary and alone.

The process of the growth and establishment of tyranny is so clearly discernible throughout the ages that only the most absolute stupidity or the most utter degeneration and corruption would lead us to follow it.

Let American democracy be equipped to defend itself, but not to DESTROY itself.

WHISKERED LOTHARIOS have no advantage over smooth-faced gentlemen in court, at least in Judge MacNeill's Philadelphia court.

Sentencing a wearer of sideburns, who had been accused of swindling a widow, the judge declared:

"Whenever you see a man with long sideburns paying undue attention to any woman, you can be sure it's for financial profit. There are honest men who wear sideburns, but they don't fool around with women."

Perhaps this is true. Perhaps hair on the masculine face produces an air of dignity which should influence character.

But, unless we miss our guess, most people will say that wearing mutton chops, burnisides, "mouches," en carres, Balbos or Splitbarts does NOT change the man.

John Carlton, "Peace Ray" inventor; Supreme Court Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes; Professor Alfred Bushnell Hart of Harvard and Congressman George Holden Tinkham would be as honorable and distinguished without their well-known beards as without them.

As the late Arthur Brisbane wisely observed:

"The important thing is the mental material inside the head; the outside is seldom important."

Cosmos

COSMOS, dainty, fair, and bright . . . like pretty girls in pink and white . . . (Nothing lovelier, I think . . . than little girls in white and pink . . . all sweetly dressed to decorate . . . a gay midsummer garden fete.)

Cosmos, you remind me of . . . a little girl I used to love . . . and I recall how she'd persist . . . in laughing low when she was kissed . . .

And even as the summer fled . . . and came at last our farewell tryst . . . she laughed and shook her saucy head . . . as-if to say she couldn't see . . . why one should take love seriously . . . then offered up her lips so red.

Human Side of News

By EDWIN C. HILL

THERE IS nothing much one can do about it, but once more, after a long absence, the celebrated sea-serpent of Puget Sound rears its horrendous head in the news and emits a raucous and resounding bellow.

A God-fearing mariner—one widely known for his rigid dedication to the truth—declares, on his solemn word, that he saw not one but two such monsters, one about 40 feet long; the other, as near as could be judged, between 63 and 70 feet.

Captain William York Higgs of the tug Catola Chief was on his way from Victoria, along the British Columbia coast, when he caught sight of the sea-serpents.

Immediately he called his crew, John Shaw, the engineer, and George McFarlane, who took a good, long look and saw exactly what the captain saw.

Whereupon the occurrence was duly and formally entered in the ship's log.

THERE MUST indeed be something more than imagination to the sea-serpents of Puget Sound.

First sighted in 1932 in Cadboro Bay, near Victoria, it or they have been seen by at least 200 persons in the past seven years.

If mariners have been imagining the sea-serpent for the past 300 years, why, then, all one can say is that they are possessed not only of a lively imagination but a most consistent one.

(Copyright, Chicago Field Museum of Natural History)
MONSTERS OF SIXTY MILLION YEARS AGO!
Are Today's Sea Serpents Survivors of Dinosaur Age?

Perhaps the most explicit and credible account ever given to an encounter with one of these prehistoric monsters reposes today in the files of the British Admiralty, a report signed by the master of Her Majesty's Ship Daedalus.

It was in Victoria's time, on the sixth day of August in the year 1848, in latitude 24 degrees and 44 seconds south, and longitude nine degrees and 22 seconds east.

Midshipman Sartoris, Lieutenant Drummond, the master, Captain Peter McQuhae, and numerous others saw the creature close at hand, clearly and distinctly—at least 60 feet long and traveling at the rate of some 15 knots an hour.

The British admiralty, being a very serious and matter-of-fact institution, does not encourage its naval officers to use the sacred ship's log as a repository for hoaxes or pipe-dreams.

And, after all, who are we little humans summarily to reject such testimony as comes today from the mariner of the British Columbian coast?

Who are we to deny that there may have been a survival of the mighty reptiles which once ruled the earth and all that dwell therein, or, indeed, if you please, to know what creatures still may dwell in the deep caverns of the sunless sea?

MY DAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—Tuesday morning and afternoon I presided at two closing sessions of the National Youth Administration conference. Some of the young NYA girls told their stories, typical of so many more. What has remained with me most vividly is the horrible feeling that such a vast army of young women are untouched by this program and that this is equally true for the young men.

Of course, the organized youth corps, who are in constant touch with these young people, feel their plight passionately. Many of the leaders of the youth corps are young people who could easily obtain jobs which would pay them far more than any youth organization could possibly pay them.

BECAUSE of what they have seen, however, and because of the idealism of youth, which is always fired by an opportunity for service, they stick where they think they can help their own generation.

The older people, sympathetic as they are, still do not feel the problem the way the young people do. I think they do not quite understand the intensity of feeling shown by the youth leaders and are rather frightened by it.

These young people, by their very passionate desire to stir people to action, show they are somewhat frightened by the fact that they cannot find answers to their problems and are in need of reassurance. I wonder if the older groups will be able to meet this challenge to their understanding and imagination.

SENATOR WALSH
"Gave the Right Note"

A continuing committee is to be appointed to carry out the findings agreed upon during these two days of conference. I hope it will lead to work in many communities that has never been done before.

In the evening, I attended the National Democratic Forum on peace, unity and co-operation, conducted under the auspices of the Women's National Democratic Club and presided over by Mr.

Denny of the New York City Forum of the Air.

It seemed to me a very successful meeting and Senator Walsh, Mr. Ernest Lindley and I remained to be questioned, even though the Postmaster-General, Mr. Farley, had to leave after his speech.

The Senator from Massachusetts gave the right note of importance and knowledge to the meeting. Mr. Lindley, in his capacity as columnist and writer, spoke on the subject from the point of view of the average citizen, and gave the note of humor which was needed to lighten the evening.

I feel sure that everybody was grateful to him for a very delightful speech.

I LEFT the club at about 10:30 and went down to the Navy Relief Ball, held in the sail-loft in the Navy Yard. Here they had transformed the entrance so that you seemed to be entering the old Charlestown Navy Yard. The young men and girls were dressed in the costumes of the Sixties. The dance hall was decorated with flags and lights, so that you could hardly believe that it was ordinarily just a bare sail-loft.

The Navy Relief Society is very proud of the fact that, through this organization, the families, widows and children of those in need who are in any way connected with the Navy, have been kept off the public relief rolls.

KING RULES QUEEN'S WARDROBE

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Queen Elizabeth's new ranking among the world's best-dressed women should be credited to her husband. King George selected the designs and told Norman Hartnell, who made the gowns, just what kind he preferred. . . . Prince Bertil of Sweden has made all his nightclub reservations in New York under the name of "Eric Hall."

THE Merchant Tailors and Designers Ass'n selected the 22 best-dressed men in America. . . . One of them, William McC. Martin, Jr., president of the Stock Exchange, never owned a hat. . . . last year. . . . Bennett Cerf, the publisher, also won ranking.

Last year, at Elizabeth Hawes' Fashion party, Cerf wore his best summer suit—a $16 outfit. . . . The list also included Paul V. McNutt, the presidential aspirant, who for the past two months has tried to wear unpressed suits—so that the farmers and suburban voters won't think he's a dude.

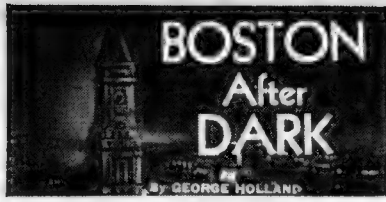

JUDITH ALLEN

ANNE KAUFMAN, daughter of Beatrice and George S. Kaufman, will make her theatrical debut shortly in a performance to be given by the pupils of the Dalton School. . . . The play will be "You Can't Take It With You," the Pulitzer prize winner written by Kaufman and Hart. . . . Anne knows almost every line of the play and auditioned for three of the leading parts. . . . But she will play a male role—that of Donald, the Negro butler.

VERA MILTON, who was Broadway's most famous chorus girl six years ago, will return to Broadway next week. She'll work in the cloakroom at Leon and Eddie. . . . Charles Friedmann, who directed the original "Pins and Needles," will leave for Hollywood to work for MGM. . . . Judith Allen, the screen actress who once was Mrs. Jack Doyle, has forsaken show business and now is selling insurance in Hollywood. . . . Wells Lewis, son of Sinclair Lewis, is writing his second book—a novel about a 17th-century Lotherio. If the book ever is dramatized for Broadway, his father would like to play the leading role.

BOSTON After DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

EXCLUSIVE: If Chairman William H. Burke of the Democratic State Committee is ready to talk about his visit with Boss Farley in Washington the other day, a great deal of misapprehension about the Postmaster General's election plans for Massachusetts can be cleared up at once. . . . We know this much, and positively. . . . The "go" signal has been given for election of a slate of delegates pledged to James A. Farley.

THERE IS NO "McNUTTERY" about it, either. . . . The Bay State delegates will vote for Farley from the very first ballot, and the third term decision has no bearing on the case at this writing. . . . We are aware that this statement is odds with recent "inside" stories on the Farley position. . . . We are aware, too, that it is the absolute truth, and immediate confirmation may be had if Chairman Burke is at liberty to answer pertinent questions.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: "Via Boston" is becoming the quickest route to top-ranking among the bands. . . . Artie Shaw, Woody Herman and Glenn Miller took the New England route and reached stardom in a couple of seasons. . . . None of these leaders was fortunate enough to get a nightclub booking in the journey. . . . Along comes Teddy Powell, the song-leader turned maestro, and the Boston route again seems to be the right road. . . . Teddy played his first Boston engagement two months ago, at a ballroom.

THE EXCITEMENT HE engendered, particularly among the swing-struck, was so great that his speedy recall was certain. . . . The Southland got him, and Ted and his lads are matching their first Boston ballroom success in a nightclub. . . . The ropes will be out at The Southland again tonight and tomorrow. . . . It was lack of space and not appreciation that kept mention of Theodora and Deneha out of a vignette review in this space yesterday of The Mayfair's new show. . . . They have talent, appearance and some excellent and intricate dancing tricks.

MAYBELLE "BUTCH" YOUNG, a thoroughly unaffected young lady who is a minor executive of the Coconut Grove's productions, is another of those "born in a theater-trunk bundles (as Winchell has called them) from heaven." . . . Maybelle's cradle was first-class luggage; it is to be expected, because her mother, Wilhelmina Fluette, stepped into a role vacated through illness by Mrs. Minnie Madden Fiske. . . . Another minor executive of the Grove, Charles Mitchell of South Boston, makes with some news of the happy sort.

CHARLES SUPERVISES the Melody Lounge for the Grove's proprietor (who shall be nameless). . . . Charles chose the last day before Leap Year to pop the question to Miss Helen Zardeska (who said "yes"), and who is described as ravishingly beautiful. . . . It's a boy and girl romance and the ceremony will take place in May. . . . Although these two notions are

MADELINE REFUSES
EX-HUBBY'S CASH

By Louella O. Parsons

Madeleine Carroll

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9.—The real reason back of Madeleine Carroll's sudden decision to make a trip to London has just come to light. Madeleine is traveling to the war-ridden country to discuss with her divorced husband, Capt. Philip Astley, the trust fund he settled on her following their divorce. But it isn't a battle—Madeleine expects to hand back the money to the good captain because she says she is able to earn her own fur coats and jewelry and does not want to accept his donations.

Such a gesture is one for the books. When the fair-haired English beauty returns she will be greeted with Fred McMurtry in "There Is Always Joan." Joan is Fred's amazing play. Edna Best and Herbert Marshall had a tremendous success in this play which has a marital comedy atmosphere and with really sparkling dialogue.

LANA TURNER

LANA TURNER celebrated her birthday and the M-G-M studio gang threw her a party with a cake and all the trimmings. Peggy Fears, hostess at an Indian dinner last night honoring Louise Stanley and Addison Randall, who are planning to have a big reception following their wedding tomorrow; Norma Shearer and George Raft lucky winners at Santa Anita. Countess Di Frasso, Mrs. Sam Goldwyn and this writer didn't have a lot of luck but we had a lot of fun. Norma, who to my knowledge was never a race enthusiast, even went to look over the horses with George. These two are really in love.

HAL ROACH stopped to tell me he has received a ton of mail since we announced that he is looking for an "unknown." He is serious, too, and reading all the mail himself; Ronald Reagan is now second to Errol Flynn in the amount of fan mail he receives; Maureen O'Sullivan's young son made his debut at the M-G-M studio yesterday when he posed for publicity stunts with Greer Garson; Robert Stack and his mother, the very attractive Betzi, flew in town yesterday from their New York jaunt. Amazing how Bobby's one movie has intrigued all the girls over the country.

MURRAY AND OSCAR BAUMBACH, an Earl Carroll twosome; all in one party at the Grace Hayes Lazz were Myrna Loy and Arthur Hurnshaw, Hedy Lamarr and Gene Raynor, Freddy March and Mrs. Edna Woolman Chase, New York editor; Andy Devine had to cut his personal appearance tour to check in at Warners Monday for "Torrid Zone"; Alice Duer Miller here to see Woolcott in "Man Who Came to Dinner."

TWO-MINUTE STORY

THE CHEF squatted at his desk, eyes riveted on a huge blood-stained butcher knife, in a horror-stricken and stunned manner.

Hot blinding anger, bewilderment, confusion, and horror criss-crossed his features, as he attempted to brush the fog from his brain and review the events of the past hour.

It was an hour ago that Earnest, the head waiter, had stalked into the kitchen, holding at arms-length, as though it were a skunk, a half-eaten filet mignon. With one scornful word, "punk," Earnest had disdainfully dropped the offending filet squarely in front of the chef, amidst all his menus.

FOR YEARS the chef had ruled that kitchen. Tyrannically some said, despotically others said. The chef cared not what they said. This was his career, his profession. He was proud of it, he loved it. Loved it with the same racial fervor that Da Vinci poured into his paintings.

But when that Earnest had the effrontery to call food that had left his kitchen, "punk," that was TOO MUCH.

With a shriek he grabbed the nearest thing handy, a butcher knife, and started after Earnest.

Earnest started to run. The chef started to run. Around the corner and right smack, into a busboy loaded with dishes. Down went the trio.

Lunging at the prostrate figure of Earnest, the chef had the soul-satisfying pleasure of hearing shriek after shriek of agony coming from Earnest.

The chef scrambled to his feet. He was happy, avenged. Turning to throw a disdainful glance at Earnest, the chef froze in his tracks, dumfounded, fear-stricken, brain paralyzed. What had he done?

BEFORE HIM, on the floor, was Earnest, blood seeping from his skull—the skull that a moment before had been luxuriant with wavy hair.

It was too much! The chef staggered, then swooned.

Thus he was denied the opportunity of seeing Earnest retrieve his toupee and carefully adjust it.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

(Reprinted by request)

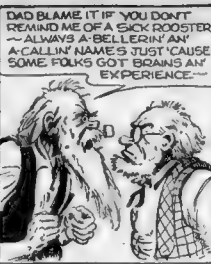

I've lived a lot;
Made a mess of most of it—
Yet, I'm proud!
Loved a lot;
Broken my heart because of it—
But I'm proud!
I've tried and failed
And been laughed at;
Fumbled and fumbled
And been shown up—
Still I'm proud!
Why,
Listen!
Listen and learn from me;
For this goes for you
As well as for me.
Why am I proud?
I'm proud because I have life!
Because, out of all the things
I might have been,
I was born a human
With the beautiful and terrible
Gift of a brain,
And the dangerous and divine

Gift of a soul.
I'm proud I have life—
And proud because
I dared to live it,
Even though
I made a mess of it.
Proud because
Once in a million times
I've been brave,
Even though
I am a coward;
And once in a million times
I've been wise and kind
Even though
I'm stupid and cruel.
I'm proud I could dream,
Even though I wallowed;
Proud that I could pray,
Even while I blasphemed;
Proud that something in me
Was always taller,
Always finer,
Always whiter,
Than my outward acts.
Most of all, I'm proud
Because I've loved;

Because I dared
To demand love;
Dared to risk
Everything I had
In the service of love;
Dared to go on loving
Even when I failed at love.
Dared to go on rejoicing,
Even when I lost
The one I loved!
For love is worth all its costs,
Anything it costs—
Tears, prayers,
Shame, suffering,
Loneliness, heartache—
A grave.
Love is worth anything.
Life is worth anything.
I'm proud
Because I've learned it;
Proud because I've risked it—
And no matter
What the learning cost,
I hope there'll be
More to buy, more to pay,
More living, more loving—
Forever more!

India Hopes for Aid By Youth Congress

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 9 (AP)—Jawaharlal Nehru, president of India's Nationalist Party, today cabled a greeting to the American Youth Congress meeting in Washington, at which India's Nationalists hoped the question of Indian independence would be raised.

Meanwhile strife between Moslems and Hindus continued to flare up in the Nationalist fight for independence. The Moslems insist they have a genuine grievance against the Nationalist congress as a body of "Hindu overlords."

They say it is only coincidence that they in effect are aligned with the British in criticizing the congress party.

Whatever is actuating the Moslems it is generally acknowledged that the British have given close attention to their position because Indian Moslems provide a tremendous troop reservoir.

Britain's struggle with another Indian problem, that of hostile native tribes, was recalled today with a report of O. K. Cairns, secretary for external affairs. The report, placed before the central assembly, stated that 43 persons had been killed and 82 wounded on the Waziristan frontier, in the northwest frontier province, in the last three months of 1939.

Cairns added that only the Shabbi Khel Mahsud tribe was hostile toward the government of India and he hoped he would make peace shortly. Government policy, he said, is to maintain peace and foster good relations with the tribes in the hope that civilization will spread gradually to the tribal areas.

The militant attitude of the Moslems tends to make Mohandas K. Gandhi, leader of the independence fight, more cautious about any direct action lest his tactics, such as a passive resistance campaign, develop into civil war.

Under a decree effective March 10, India today banned imports from 23 neutral countries—including Turkey, Italy and Spain but excepting the United States, Japan and Russia—unless accompanied by certificates of origin.

The certificates will be invalid

REBUS INVITATION—With the rebus craze spreading all over the country, Benay Venuta, radio star (right), thought it novel to send out rebus invitation for party . . . and (above) this is it. Can you make it out? well, here it is . . . "You are invited for cocktails this Sunday at five o'clock. Bring your dancing shoes and we'll raise the roof."

Poster Contest for 'Americanism Week'

One feature of National Americanism Week, as observed here from Feb. 12 to Feb. 22 by the Boston Junior Association of Commerce, will be a poster contest, it was announced today by William S. Ballard, committee chairman.

With the slogan "For Better Americans in a Greater America," Americanism Week, which will be observed annually on the same dates, will include many activities in Boston.

At a luncheon meeting in the University Club, plans of the Boston Junior Association of Commerce for the local observance were completed.

The association, firm in the belief that today's young business man must accept the responsibility of becoming a living personification of American action, will feature during the week the accomplishments of young Americans.

This is in order that boys and girls still in the impressionable school age, may clearly understand and value the great difference between American action and youth action in Europe today.

The luncheon meeting was a typical example of the American way of thinking. At the invitation of the Boston Junior Association of Commerce, Asa Knowles, dean of Northeastern School of Business Administration; Clark Woodward, vice-president of Liberty Mutual; Ray W. Kelley, personnel director of Lever Brothers, and Joseph Lee, Jr., Boston school committee member, joined with the association members to discuss a panel meeting to be held on the night of Feb. 27 at the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

entirely unrelated, we might have mentioned while mentioning Miss Young's mother above, that Maybelle received her final decree, and is no longer Mrs. Robert Weaver of California. . . . The cause of truth (and not a mood of pessimism) demands, however, that Maybelle's marriage to Mr. Weaver was the fruition of a boy and girl romance.

BEFORE THE THRILLING abduction of England's Edward VIII, a sentimental American public exultant at prospects of an American girl becoming Queen of the Empire was at the point of making a shrine of the trim little house in Baltimore where Wally Simpson (Winder) lived her early life. . . . The house actually was made an exhibition-place, and customers were privileged to explore it at two-bits a visit. . . . Well, here's a tip for transfixed fans of Diane Burton, the newest thing in starring film-taste circles, who is currently at the Old Howard. . . . If that won't write it, Miss Burton while Diane is on the road between steps at the Old Howard, they will be able to reach the buxom star at the Baltimore address. . . . Diane has leased the former home of the lady who got London in a dither in 1836, and her mail is forwarded.

Starts MONDAY in The RECORD-AMERICAN Fascinating New Contest

$10,000.00

CASH FIRST PRIZE . . . and 99 other awards

Can You Tell What Word This Puzzle Represents?

(SAMPLE PUZZLE)

Look at this puzzle. It's just a SAMPLE PUZZLE to give you the idea of how you can win $10,000.00 as 1st Prize in this fascinating, new Rebus Game. Since this SAMPLE PUZZLE doesn't count in the contest, we have sketched in the answer and explain how we figure it out.

The idea is to add and subtract the given letters and the letters in the names of the objects pictured. For instance, the first object here is a BELT. To BELT we are told to add the equivalent of 3 feet, or namely, YARD. That gives us B E L T Y A R D, from which we subtract the next object, TRAY, and the letter "L." When we cross out the letters T, R, A, Y, L, we are left with the letters B E D, giving us the word BED as the solution.

Note that the solution diagram contains 3 spaces, indicating 3 letters as being the length of the word. Also note the "wise-cracks" of the comic characters surrounding the puzzle—all of which prove that our answer is correct.

"The Boston Record-American Rebus Game beats the band! Here's a contest that's a crescendo of cleverness," says Maestro PAUL WHITEMAN.

100 GENEROUS CASH PRIZES WILL BE PAID!!!

The Boston Record-American will award $15,000.00 in cash prizes to the 100 persons who solve the puzzles of this contest most correctly, in accordance with the rules. A first prize of $10,000.00, $2,000.00 as Second Prize, $1,000.00 as Third Prize. Any one of these or the 97 other cash awards can become yours through this delightful, new game.

Watertown Mother Signs With Legion

Fears that other American youth may share the fate of her brother, who lies in Flanders Field, a Watertown mother today added her name to the lengthening list of National Legion of Mothers of America, pledged to keep American blood from ever again drenching foreign soil.

In a few simple but poignant words, the sister, Mrs. Dorothy Hazlett of 45 Chapman st., writes:

"Please accept my pledge as a member in the Legion of Mothers. I am the sister of Priv. Walter Howes, who lies under a white cross in Flanders, France."

A request for 50 blank pledge cards comes from Mrs. Charles Pickett, 180 Juniper st., Providence. Enclosing the signed pledges of her daughter, daughter-in-law and a friend, she writes:

"Please send me 50 pledge cards, as I want to enroll my friends in the Legion. I sent my pledge before and I am now sending the pledges of my daughter, daughter-in-law and a friend. I will do all I can to help in any way."

For the sake of her brother and husband, Mrs. Filomena DeFilippo, 138 Bow st., Everett, sends in her pledge and writes:

"I am the mother of three children, and I am signing this pledge in the interests of my husband and brother. The thought of my only brother going to war would break my mother's heart. I do not want them to fight on foreign battlefields."

Mrs. Mark Curran, 209 Broadway, Everett:

"I have a husband whom I don't want to send to war on alien soil."

2 DEAD IN LOVE FIGHT MURDER

HONOLULU, Feb. 8 (AP)—Loss of his beautiful wife's love and general marital incompatibility led Naval Lieut. George F. Standish, Jr., to shoot his wife to death, then himself, police said.

This solution to the Wednesday tragedy in the couple's Waikiki apartment was reported by Detective Capt. Benjamin Van Keuren after reading letters discovered in the home.

"Be a good wife and remain with your husband," counseled the mother, Mrs. Harvey Bell, from Tacoma, in one letter.

In another, written by Mrs. Standish to her mother but not mailed, the young wife told of her unwillingness to remain in the islands because she no longer loved the lieutenant. The couple had been married less than two years.

Harvey Bell, Tacoma business man, said he knew of "no serious domestic difficulties" between his daughter and her husband. He could not explain the shooting. Neighbors said Mrs. Standish, who crashed into a tree today, injuring came to Honolulu last December, at least 16 persons.

attended a bridge party Tuesday afternoon and had seemed in good spirits.

Standish came here in October and attached to the U. S. S. Southampton.

Love

And Marriage

Attention! Parents!

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am 18 years of age, and like all girls my age I want to go to parties and have a good time, but my dad is one of those hard-boiled men who won't allow it. I don't drink or smoke, but he seems to find fault with everything I know and fusses at my sister and me continually.

L. H.
I dread coming home from school. He knows I'm afraid of him, and I haven't the nerve to tell him I don't like to be around him on account of his fussing. If something doesn't turn up soon I'm going to run away and not ever come home again.

He used to be the best dad anyone could ask for. I have talked it over with mama, but she agrees with him, and won't listen to me, and even threatened to tell dad if I didn't stop saying things about him.

When I read a letter like the foregoing, I hope devoutly that it may meet the eye of dad who inspired it, and mother who backs him up.

The trouble with such well-meaning parents is that they're trying to improve on the mold in which the Creator cast their children. Were they never 18? Do they never want to go out and have a good time? Why impose conditions on children that insure respect, or, as this girl says, the temptation to run away from home and never come back?

The sensible thing for parents to do, especially when children are bubbling over with the joy of being 18, is to cooperate. Know the friends your boys and girls associate with; be it ever so humble, let them bring the young people home to entertain them.

Vacation Trip Tips

Buy nothing you can't use, or haven't the right accessories for... and be sure you visualize yourself... not the dream-creature you'd like to be... in play clothes before you invest.

When packing... make a list of each outfit, and think of yourself in it, completely dressed. A forgotten belt means an unwearable dress... and leaving out your new gold jewelry may spoil the effect of that stately simple frock.

If you're traveling by train or plane, wear something that won't wrinkle... jersey, for instance... and a hat in which you can relax, such as a smart drape-around turban. And do have materials for a fresh make-up where you can get at them easily without rooting through bags.

Remember that one doesn't wear above-the-knee shorts in Bermuda streets... and that Havana is a city. In Nassau it's okay. Put on shipboard you can display plenty of epidermis... on the sundeck, please... and be frank in looking at yourself from every angle before you go in for too-trying brevity of costume.

LOUISE BARNES GALLAGHER, Famous

American designer, introduces this light blue wool dress for spring... note the frilly silk jabot of polka dots to give it a crisp and feminine touch... and the perspective pleats which give extra fullness to the skirt without adding bulk to the hips. With it the model wears Jeanne Tete's shirred silk turban in white, and white pull-on gloves... Annice Brink, Fashions Editor.

Change Your Powder?

By ARLINE GOULD

Not once in a blue moon do we get a chance to recommend a beauty product that costs only a quarter... but today's the day!

For you can get, for one-fourth of a dollar, a generous trial size combination of a high-grade face powder, which sells for $2 in the full size and a small vial of the same maker's delicate but lasting perfume, which is priced at $4 an ounce.

The usual price of these trial size packages is twenty-five cents each... but if you get in on it while the offer lasts, you can get both for the small sum.

Here is a grand chance for the girl who is a bit bored with the brand of face powder she has been using for years... and we do get bored even with good things... but who hesitates to invest any considerable amount in something she doesn't know.

Again, it gives you a compact little kit to stick in your traveling bag, or even to carry in your handbag or tuck into your desk drawer. And with Valentine's Day so close, here's an idea that will appeal to youngsters with a tiny allowance. With your Valentine greeting, give Mother and your teacher one of these little gifts. We guarantee their high quality.

Arline Gould will tell you where this special half-price sale is being held. If you call LIBerty 4000, week days except Saturdays, before 5 o'clock, or write her, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

By BETTY ALDEN

KATHARINE CARTER of Chestnut Hill is being married today in the sunny south to John Barnett Smith of Dallas, Texas . . . The ceremony, at the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas, is a quiet family affair and there are no attendants . . .

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop L. Carter of Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, flew to Dallas to the wedding and will continue their trip by air to Mexico and Guatemala . . . Her brothers, Winthrop, Jr., and Sidney, also are attending the wedding . . . A year and a half ago a third brother, Barton, was reported killed in action while fighting in the ranks of the International Brigade in Spain . . .

Katharine studied in Europe and also attended Smith College . . . She is a cousin of Mr. and Mrs. James Carter, 2d, of Groton, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rupert MacLaurin of Cambridge, Adams and Sylvia Carter of West Newton . . . The newlyweds will live in the South . . .

FOR ALL WE KNOW Russian bombers and machine guns may have demolished Mairia House at Pari, Finland . . . Nevertheless you can admire a model of this modern architectural gem (typical of the homes in which wealthy Finnish families lived so peacefully but a short time ago) at the exhibition of Houses and Housing to be held at the Hotel Somerset, March 1 to 4, under the auspices of the Smith College Graduate School of Landscape Architecture . . .

In fact you can see illustrations and models of beautiful modern homes in England, France, Czechoslovakia and the U. S. A., all designed by the foremost architects of today . . . An interesting feature of the exhibit is the story of the evolution of modern architecture and the development of new techniques and materials in building after the introduction of machinery.

Sponsor Exhibit

IT WOULD TAKE far more space than allotted to us to print the hundreds of sponsors for this interesting affair . . . but a few include Mrs. Francis V. Bulfinch, who bears the name of the famous architect who designed so many Boston landmarks, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bigelow, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Potter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hampden Robb, Mr. and Mrs. P. Shaw Sprague and Miss Clara Endicott Sears . . .

Other sponsors are, Russell Robb, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William A. Frost, Mrs. Robert M. Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Campbell, Miss Elsie C. Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. McKean, Miss Mary P. Winsor, Miss Virginia Wells and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Paine . . .

Ladies Night

EVEN SOCIETY people have their requêtes (it's all a matter of spelling) . . . but husbands manage to keep it pretty much of a secret from their wives 364 days of the year (yes, you're right—and one more this year) . . . One evening per annum ladies are allowed to venture through the sacrosanct portals of the Tennis and Racquet Club for annual ladies night dinner and entertainment . . . and last night was the night . . .

Though the party was very informal, some of the guests such as Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cutler, considered it an occasion worthy of their best finery . . . Mrs. Cutler was wrapped in sable over a long velvet gown as she stepped into the brightly lighted foyer of the club on Boylston st. . . .

Among the many young wives eligible to attend this annual festivity with their member husbands are Mrs. Brinley Morgan Hall, Mrs. Charlie Stockton, Mrs. Alexander Cochran, Mrs. John S. Ames, Jr., Mrs. B. Devereux Barker, Jr., Mrs. Malcolm Greenough and Mrs. Charles Devereux.

Cooking Make Omelet For Supper

By MARTHA LEE
When we were children and mother declared, "We're having omelet for supper tonight," that was firm notice that all hand-washing must be done before supper call. No straggling was permitted. "This is one dish that simply won't wait for slow pokes," she would say. And, of course, an omelet should be eaten hot and fresh from the pan, while it is light and tender.

FRENCH OMELET
4 EGGS
1/4 tsp salt
Dash of pepper
1/4 cup of milk
2 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
Beat eggs until whites and yolks are well mixed; add seasonings and milk. Turn into buttered, hot frying pan and place over moderate heat. As it cooks, lift edges toward center and tip pan so the uncooked mixture flows under the cooked portion. When bottom is browned, sprinkle parsley over top, fold over or roll, and slip on to hot platter; serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

And speaking of sauces, here is one that's wonderfully savory with omelet. Spoon it on before folding and serve it over the top, too:

SAVORY SAUCE
2 tbsp. onions, chopped
1 lb. onion pepper, chopped
2 tbsp. butter
1 can condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup mushrooms, cooked
Sauté the chopped onion and green pepper in the butter until soft, but not brown. Then add the condensed tomato soup and the 1/2 cup cooked mushrooms. When the omelet is browned on the bottom, put three tablespoons of savory sauce in it and fold over or roll. Serve omelet on a platter or plate and put sauce over or around it.

VARIATIONS OF FRENCH OMELET
Variable Omelet—Place 1/2 cup bread crumbs and 3 tablespoons butter in frying pan and sauté until crisp and brown, stirring constantly. Add browned crumbs with 1/2 cup finely grated carrots and 2 teaspoons minced parsley to omelet mixture. Mix 1 tablespoon additional butter in frying pan, add omelet-vegetable mixture and cook as directed. Serve with cheese sauce. Makes 6 servings.

CHEESE SAUCE
2 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. flour
1 cup milk
1/4 tsp. salt
Dash of paprika
1/2 to 1 cup grated American cheese
Melt butter and stir in flour; gradually stir in milk, and stir until mixture boils and thickens, then cook about 3 minutes longer, stirring occasionally; add seasonings; add cheese and a dash of paprika, and stir over low heat until cheese is melted. Place over hot water to keep hot and cover tightly to prevent crust from forming. Makes about 1 1/2 cups sauce.

TOP STOVE HAM AND MACARONI
(Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)
Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoon—measure level.

INGREDIENTS
1 5 or 8-oz. pkg. macaroni
4 tbsp. fat or salad oil
3 tbsp. minced onion
4 tbsp. flour
2 c. heated milk or 1 c. evaporated milk and 1 c. water
1 c. sliced American cheese
1 1/2-oz. can (5 c.) sliced ham
Salt and pepper to taste
METHOD OF PREPARATION
Cook the macaroni in 3 qts boiling salted water until tender. Meanwhile melt the fat in the top of a double boiler over direct low heat. Sauté the onion in this fat until tender, add the flour and mix thoroughly. Place over hot water, add milk, cheese and ham, stir in this mixture. Cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly, then add salt and pepper to taste. Drain the macaroni and place on a hot platter. Pour the sauce over the macaroni, toss slightly, and serve at once. Serves 8. To serve 2 or 3, make half this recipe, using rest of ham for luncheon sandwiches or the like.
Menu Suggestion: Serve with canned peas, bread, buttered or fresh pineapple, cookies and coffee.

CLIFFORD ODETS' NEW 'NIGHT MUSIC' SOUNDS LIKE HIT Premiere at Shubert

By PEGGY DOYLE

As pridefully American as a Walter Winchell column is Clifford Odets' new play, "Night Music," which opened under Group Theater auspices last night before a Shubert houseful of increasingly enthusiastic first-nighters.

The hunchy Mr. Odets, who was viewing the first out-of-town opening of one of his Group-sponsored works, earlier in the week had expressed his high opinion of the Hub as a knowing theater town. Even before the final curtain, which was followed by more than a half-dozen curtain calls and demands for "Author! Author!" he must have found himself completely sold on Boston premises.

For the brilliant young author of "Awake and Sing!" "Waiting for Lefty," "Golden Boy" and "Rocket to the Moon" was rewarded for his latest play with the most beautiful music—the lovely clamor of hand beating hand all over the theater.

In reviewing "Night Music," mention of Elmer Rice's recent and happily received "Two On A Island" is inevitable. Both celebrated playwrights have chosen the New York scene with the Boy-Meets-Girl-But-Reluctantly angle.

From where we sat on the aisle, "Night Music" would seem to be infinitely the more powerful play. Odets has done some of his finest writing in this, his latest stage offering, and he has developed its potentialities.

"Night Music" has the ringing authority of a Sousa march. It is a call to the colors but not what they mean—the munitions makers and the overseas warriors. This is a peacetime challenge to Young America, a command to live and fight for a job, a home, a family.

But this is no propaganda-laden harangue, as Morris Carnovsky delivers it to Ella Kazan and Jane Wyatt, the boy and girl of the piece. The Group's Carnovsky—has been with the organization since its inception nine years except for a quiescent period in '33—plays a Manhattan detective whose left hand is always managing to provide a square meal or a movie-pass for some youth his right hand has collared into police-court.

Even the bumptious, rebellious young Greek-American Kazan portrays eventually realizes the while he resents it that the detective is on his side. Jane Wyatt, who plays the girl, knew it all the time. It is frankly not under the happiest of circumstances that these two first meet formally. In a police station under the suspicious gaze of Lieut. Tom Tully. As a matter of fact it is the girl who is responsible for the boy being there—and the champing at what is called the bit because he should be taking off for Hollywood with two trained monkeys.

With malice towards all, the boy leaves the station. He is to report back Monday. He makes a line like a bee for the girl's stage door. The show closes that night, and these two unfriendly enemies go to her shoddy hotel, where she contritely promises to get him a room on the cuff. After one look at it, he'd rather freeze on a Central Park bench. They do.

The ubiquitous detective is around in the morning to buy them—and her hectoring, harried father—and her stuffed-shirt sweetheart, just arrived from hometown Philadelphia—breakfast. The host acts as referee, reminding the father this his daughter is over 21 and has the right. It is no love-feast, despite the kindly offices of the u. d. Before the next and final round on Monday, the boy and girl have toured the town and discovered each other.

Miss Wyatt, who contributed largely to the charm of Shangri-La in the film, "Lost Horizon," gives a most persuasive performance as the girl. Kazan, who has appeared in many group productions, as the mercurial Steve Takis, who is awkward and sensitive and idealistic and ornery all at the same time, is splendid.

They and Carnovsky warm Odets' thought-provoking, brilliantly conceived play into living theater. It is regrettable that their large and beautifully cast supporting company cannot be mentioned individually for their capable contributions. As for Hanns Eisler's incidental music which knits together the scenes, there is nothing incidental about it, believe us. Harold Clerman's expert direction and Mordecai Gorelik's settings are worthy of play and cast.

Lombard's Nurse Role Authentic

Carole Lombard, one of Hollywood's few genuinely glamorous girls, says farewell to diamond-paved lame gowns and all that sort of glamour in "Vigil in the Night."

In RKO Radio's impressive film adaptation of Dr. A. J. Cronin's novel, Miss Lombard is the sort of girl that men of the Rhet Butler ilk would like no truck with. In our limited never-a-patient-always-a-visitor experience, her Nurse Lee would seem to be a thoroughly authentic, admirable realization of all that is finest in the profession. Florence Nightingale founded.

It is this sincere, earnest interpretation of the nurse-heroine in Dr. Cronin's tribute to the women who dedicate their lives to the sick and suffering that may disappoint Lombard fans in Keith-Memorial audiences this week.

It is possible that they will prefer the talented Lombard in more gorgeous apparel and dramatic mood than as the restrained, valiant Nurse Lee, whose beauty is remote and whose hostility is black cotton.

Teamed with Miss Lombard in this hospital drama are Brian Aherne and Anne Shirley. Aherne, in New York conferring with Gilbert Miller of a proposed road tour with Cornelia Otis Skinner in "The Beaux' Stratagem," will be remembered for his Maximilian in "Juarez," one of his finest and most persuasive portrayals.

In "Vigil in the Night" Aherne plays the brilliant young physician who admired Nurse Lee first as an excellent nurse and then as a lovely, young woman. Both Aherne and Miss Lombard are inspired by a script that misuses. It is an uninspired, conscientious writing job that has failed to realize the story's essential dramatic power.

Anne Shirley, as Nurse Lee's young sister who lacks the stamina for nursing but carries on, is handicapped by a script that sags in the clinches.

Excellent in supporting roles are Brenda Forbes, Rita Page, Peter Cushing and Julien Mitchell. Miss Forbes, whose tired Christmas-tree doll monologue was one of the best of the many good things in the Shubert Theater's recent "Two for the Show," contrasts some truly amusing sequences with the aid of Miss Page.

Capitalizing on that rejuvenated best-seller of the flats-and-sharps business, Universal's "Oh, Johnny, How You Can Love," Keith Memorial's second feature, should add to the popular ditty's long life. It has youthful Tom Brown and Peggy Moran for co-stars. . . P. D.

'Four Wives' Opens Saturday at Olympia

"Four Wives," sequel to "Four Daughters," starring the original cast of the Lane Sisters, Jeffrey Lynn, Claude Rains and Gale Page, will be the feature attraction on the Washington at Olympia new program starting Saturday. Sharing screen honors will be "Henry Goes Arizona," comedy, featuring Frank Morgan, Virginia Weider and Slim Summerville.

Iona Massey Enchanting in 'Balalaika' on Met Screen

Nelson Eddy Shares in Honors

By PEGGY DOYLE

A bit tradey with its White Russian Christmas, "Balalaika" proved dazzling, new success, yesterday's Metropolitan opening day customers by reason of the enchanting new foreign star, Iona Massey.

She is a symposium of the screen's most fetching blondes and yet she completely contradicts her occasional resemblance to Dietrich, Carroll and Garbo by being an original.

She's Hollywood's most exciting import in a baker's dozen of beauties—and it is our prediction that she'll have Hedy Lamarr out of her brunette disguise in no time.

Miss Massey's co-star, Nelson Eddy, does most of the warbling but the Budapest beauty manages to make every note, and what's more, every instant she's on the screen count. You gather she's a lovely thing? You're absolutely right—don't miss her.

Eddy, the Providence boy whose baritone is the biggest concert draw in New England, acquires himself most creditably as Prince Peter, who heads a singing regiment of Cossacks and makes melodious love to the pretty Bolshevik.

There is much bewailing the days gone when champagne and caviar were everyday necessities and much come-the-revolution-on-anticipating on the part of the peasants. All of which will most likely be most distasteful to the comrades.

If you are willing to overlook this handsomely produced opera's lack of originality and bask vicariously in Miss Massey's eye-catching charms and Jacques Deville's always acceptable and frequently brilliant dialogue, you'll enjoy "Balalaika," Metro's adaptation of the London musical hit of several seasons back.

Charles Ruggles plays a puckish orderly; Frank Morgan, a fretful Imperial Opera impresario; C. Aubrey Smith, one of old Russia's most aristocratic and kindly representatives. These, and supporting players Walter Woolf King, Joyce Compton, and Lionel Atwill, distinguish themselves.

Reinhold Schunzel's direction and the photography are in keeping with the production's general excellence.

Robert Montgomery, romantic leading man who went baddie in the film version of "Night Must Fall," is infinitely more credible as an underworlding in "Earl of Chicago," the second feature. His little role portrayal is one of the best things he's ever done.

CHARMAINE is the beautiful headliner of the new traveling burlesque show opening today at the Globe.

Put on Drive To Encourage New Inventors

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUYEKSEY
International News Service
Economic Commentator

A nationwide effort is under way to dramatize the fact that the building of the nation has not yet been completed.

In celebrating the 130th anniversary of the United States patent system, this month, the purpose is to inspire young folks in the schools and colleges with the thought that the country needs the benefit of their creative powers.

The design is to show that, though the geographical frontiers have disappeared, present-day men of courage are applying the fortitude of the original pioneers in the laboratories at the new frontiers of science and invention.

A national association has encouraged local organizations to hold their own meetings to "honor modern pioneers on the American frontiers of industry."

Beginning this week and up to Feb. 27, there will be a nationwide "patent week."

The movement to honor the heroes of peace, one of the sponsors said.

"The hardy pioneer of the years past who braved the unknown to advance the frontiers of our country has long been honored in story and song.

"Now there is a new type of pioneer in this country. He is not one who dares the unknown plain, the trackless forest or the uncharted sea. No monuments have been erected, no parades held to honor his deeds and his name. He has worked anonymously, groping his way carefully and patiently through the unknown frontiers of industrial science.

"But he is a worthy successor to the pioneers of old, for out of his laboratory and workshop has come a steady flow of things to make living better for everybody—new industries to make new jobs—a steady progress for America!

"The banquets will be the occasion for presentation of modern pioneers, awards to outstanding inventors and research scientists in this area. Those who will come to pay honor to these unsung heroes will be 'pioneering' too, in a sense—pioneering in public tribute to America's present day Daniel Boones, Kit Carsons and Davy Crocketts of industrial science."

Henry Ford, in setting up the Dearborn Museum at his home town in Michigan, has sought through the years similarly to honor peace-time heroes.

His thought, has been that human progress can be told in terms of advances in industrial arts. When years back, he bluntly said that "history is bunk," he doubtless meant to express his criticism of conventional history which over-values soldiers posing as heroes and politicians masquerading as statesmen, underplaying the importance of unassuming workers, who through creative efforts find better ways to produce more and better goods for the people.

In the same spirit, another great automobile company has been sending a travelling industrial circus around the country.

It has been showing new industrial developments, and has been seeking to create the impression that much creative work needs to be done.

After a stay in a town, the company inserts an advertisement in the local newspaper emphasizing the inspirational theme: "We hope we've set one boy to dreaming."

These are constructive attempts to restore the American dream of perpetual progress.

It is high time for constructive leaders to seek to offset the poisonous defeatism which has circulated during the depression period, and discouraged young people, whose primary assets should always be courage and hope.

Ludlow Dividend

Directors of the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates have declared a dividend of $2 a share, payable March 1 to stock of record Feb. 25.

HUGH E. BRADSHAW

Financial Editor

Boston Will Hear Girdler, Willkie

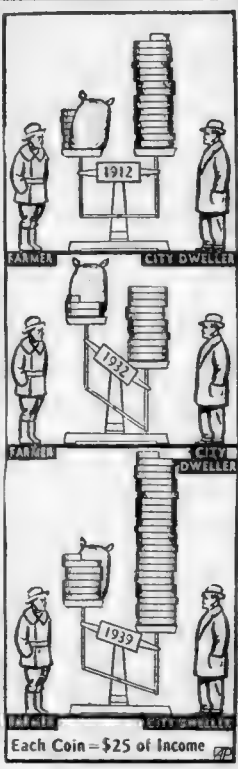

Two of the most famous defenders of the rights of private industry are scheduled to appear in Boston in the next two months. . . . Both will be speakers at luncheon meetings of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

THE OPPORTUNITY . . . To hear Tom L. Girdler and Wendell L. Willkie has already created a great deal of comment headline positions so often occupied by both men in their talks with government bureaus. . . . And while the subjects they will discuss have not yet been compared it is hopefully expected they will deal with their personal experiences. . . . Mr. Girdler, leader of the famed "little steel" group, is chairman of the board of Republic Steel. . . . He will speak on March 14. . . . Mr. Willkie is president of the Commonwealth & Southern Corp. and is nationally known as the outstanding defender of private utility ownership. . . . He is scheduled to address the luncheon meeting of April 5. . . .

TODAY'S CHART . . . Shows a comparison of the farmer's income compared with a city man's. . . . The scales never contain an equal number of dollars for both. . . . Even when economists figure farmers are getting a full normal share of the national income. . . . As in the top figure. . . . For farmers get some items such as food, clothing for little or nothing. . . . This part of farm income is represented by sacks of grain. . . . which, of course, do not appear on the city man's side of the scales. . . . To maintain the scales in close balance is one of prosperity's indispensable "musts". . . . Symptom of darkest depression in 1932 was the fact farmers were only getting one third of their share. . . . In 1939 better times were reflected in the fact he obtained 73.5 per cent of his share. . . .

INDEPENDENT . . . Observers of financial affairs will removed from daily contact with the stock market think most problems of traders could be solved by a good psychologist. . . . They point out the mental funk enveloping those close to the stock tape is not compatible with the news. . . . Business and industrial reports are good. . . . Examine this week's earnings and earnings statements of the big motor companies. . . . Study the outlook for auto production. . . . analyze raw material prices. . . . Nothing is warranting the blues is uncovered. . . . The answer lies in the dearth of actual brokerage business. . . . It is responsible for a condition some economists think is shortly prove an error of pessimism. . . . Which will be corrected by a swift rise, which will be promptly tagged as a surprise. . . .

CURRENT ACTION . . . Of the stock market is making encouraging. . . . Average prices have escaped the tight range which grasped them so firmly for weeks. . . . And the fact narrow daily fluctuations persisted for so long is of great chart importance. . . . Technicians now look upon the period as representing a base of importance. . . . One warranting something more than a mere flicker on the upside. . . . Spells of softness may interrupt upside progress occasionally. . . . Particularly those resulting from selling activities such as we wrote of yesterday. . . . But for traders the clearly indicated "best policy" will further notice is purchase of stocks during all declines. . . .

PAY RAISE FOR 2000 WORKERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Unskilled workers won $2 more a week and a reduction of the work week from 45 to 42 hours under a contract ratified unanimously by 2000 members of four locals of the millinery workers Union (CIO).

COLOMBIAN DEBT NEARS SETTLEMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Negotiators of differences between the Colombian government and United States holders of the South American nation's $51,000,000 defaulted bond issues were said to be hopeful today that a settlement could be reached within two weeks.

Ambassador Gabriel Turbay of Colombia recently told newspapermen, "we are working very hard" on the matter.

Today informed financial circles said certain bases of agreement apparently had been reached, and United States investors might soon learn the fate of their financial enterprises in Colombia.

Colombia issued $25,000,000 worth of federal bonds in 1927 and $35,000,000 worth in 1923. Both issues were at 6 per cent. For several years payments were met.

Informed sources indicated today that Ambassador Turbay and representatives of the Foreign Bond Holders' Ass'n of New York City have agreed on a basis of negotiation which would scale down interest payments due, but would not touch the principal of the indebtedness.

These sources said details were being worked out so successfully that something definite in the way of a general solution might be expected within a fortnight.

The United States government, though not a formal factor in the negotiations, was understood to be following them closely.

Profit-Taking Sales Stem Market Rally

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Sizeable profit selling today served to put brakes on a further stock market rally.

Overnight buying orders sent prices up fractions to 2 points at a speedy opening. Offerings then began to stem the tide and, near midday, top marks were reduced or cancelled in many cases. Volume winded on the slide.

Retaining mild support were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse, duPont, Altech Chemical, Johns-Manville, Kennecott, Union Pacific and N. Y. Central.

U. S. Steel lagged, along with General Motors, American Telephone and Santa Fe. Aircrafts bucked down to where they were about unchanged.

Bonds were selectively higher, as were commodities. Foreign markets were irregular.

While business news, generally, seemed a bit more encouraging, most traders were said to be not entirely convinced yesterday's last-minute recovery in the stock dividend was other than a technical comeback after a lengthy stalemate.

Charitable market views were the annual statements of Chrysler and U. S. Rubber. Both disclosed 1939 profits about double those of the year before, the former being able to overcome the handicap of a lengthy fall labor shutdown.

Week-end merchandising surveys provided a prop for sentiment, these indicating the American spending urge was keeping store activities at a high level.

The Dun & Bradstreet summary placed the week's retail volume at 5 to 10 per cent above the aggregate in the like period last year.

Financial quarters studied, without much enthusiasm, the analysis of the Securities and Exchange Commission showing that new securities registrations under the Securities Act of 1933 slipped to $1,781,416,000, in 1939 from $2,422,330,000 the year before.

Favor Trade Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—A resolution to continue the reciprocal trade agreements act unchanged for three years had cleared its first legislative hurdle today, receiving approval of the House ways and means committee by a strictly partisan vote: 14 Democrats for, and 10 Republicans against. House consideration was scheduled tentatively for the week beginning Feb. 19. Democrats and Republicans were said to have agreed on 12 hours' general debate.

London Metal Market

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Bar silver 21½ off 9. (Equivalent 38.55 cents on the dollar basis $4.03.)

Bar Gold 168½, unchanged. (Equivalent $33.85.)

AUSTEN LAKE Outlanders Dominate BAA's Home-Breds

There is an ironical twist to tomorrow night's B. A. A. track circus when the ancient and all-but-orphaned fellowship presents the pick of the U. S. A. amateur athletes at the Boston Garden. For now there are no home-bred track stars hereabouts to hog the calcium—no big name ankle-jockies like Tom Halpin, Oscar Hedlund, Jake Driscoll, Lloyd Hahn, Dave Caldwell, Bill Bingham, Jimmy Daley, Joe Higgins and half-a-hundred others who made people shout out their front teeth in that dear, dead day.

Poverty has dispersed the once-robust membership and left only a faithful few to maintain the B. A. A.'s punctilio, royal forms in a hired hotel suite, a scant bottle-toss across the way from its old rose-brick mansion on Exeter street. Creditors seized the old homestead some years ago and winked out its blue Unicorn light. And since then the B. A. A. has existed more in fancy than in form, like whiffs of lavender and relics in grandma's attic trunk.

Twice each year this shattered remnant of Boston's sport aristocracy nods to tradition by pinning gold officials' badges on their breasts and setting forth to summon the ghost of old glory. Once each April when they hold the Marathon shuffle from Hopkinton. And once each February when they stage a renewal of the indoor games. The profits from the latter pay for the losses from the former and the surplus at the end of the year amounts to little more than the price of a milk-punch and maybe a couple of magnums of champagne. So the old fellowship sits in the gloaming chanting old refrains and rapping out the rhythm with pewter mugs salvaged from the club's kitchen.

SO TOMORROW NIGHT BOSTON'S TRACK philiberts will be hanging from the Garden's girders as they used to hang from the Arenas' rafters when Joe Ray was packing them in and Loren Murchinson was the dash king at the peak of the B. A. A.'s pre-crash prosperity. The mile was always the bright feature then and, except for a slightly showpown angle, the mile would be the focal spot tomorrow night.

Not that I wish to low-rate this congress of footy folk, but the fact is that the five deluxe mile-gypies matched to run the sacrosanct Hunter mile are wasting their breath in the comparatively parvenu Penn A. C. mile tonight at Philadelphia. Fancy that. They, and I mean Glenn Cunningham, Gene Venzke, Chuck Fenske and Blaine Rideout, who roam the land each winter like a medicine show, dropping off on opposite sides of their trains and appearing that same evening in time-defying, last-gasp, all-for-glory struggles, will probably have little left but their empty husks. The only athlete in tomorrow's race who isn't burning out his filament in Philly tonight is a comelately by the name of Lou Zamperini. So there's a tip!

A dash of melancholy is added to the program—not the fact that Cunningham, the elderling stake racer, is running his Boston farewell, but the three-mile memorial to Pat Dengis, the deceased marathoner who lost his life in an airplane crash. Tradition, the boys agree, is the soul of the B. A. A.'s. A dip of the knee to old memories, a vision of the hand to the past, a kindly kiss down the corridor of the years, an auld lang syne to vanished good fellows.

Thus this three-mile oddity! With such artisan athletes as Johnny Kelley, Leslie Pawson, Tarzan Brown, Frank Darrah, Paul Donato, George Durgin and Lou Gregory (switching a sad cavalcade around the Garden's wooden saucer—men who suffered gas pains, blurred vision and ankle-aches with Dengis each Patriots' Day through the years.

CLARENCE DEMAR, THE 46-YEAR-OLD SPHINK, has been invited to race, too. But Clarence, gradually taking the load off his feet, hasn't said Yes and he hasn't said No. Yet noticeably he isn't taking his daily 12-mile trundles over New Hampshire's frozen roads and is whittling down his exercise to long walks and an occasional nervous gallop—unwinding himself slowly.

In late years this amazing antique has snow-shoed along in the rear of the B. A. A. marathon, content to watch the chuffs of other runners' rumps and listen to the rhythmic chuff-chuff of an occasional younger man, like Dengis was, pass by. The day when he was able and willing to choke down stomach bubbles, fight the mists in his brain and suffer the feeling of a furnace in his chest may, with mellowing age and family responsibilities, have gone.

He recently published a book which he set by hand himself and which he wrote in the tone of a valedictory—a whimsical, well-written, self history worth reading. Still by race-time tomorrow night Clarence may sniff the smoke of battle from afar and decide, aw shucks, let's give the aging gambs another gallop. You never know about Clarence!

ONE THING MORE. AND HERE I SASS myself back for saying there are no local stars. There's one, a kangaroo-legged negro kid named Eddie Dugger of Tufts in the hurdle event—a fatherless lad, eldest of a large Medford brood, whose Mother (with a capital M) wears her fingers down to the wrists keeping vittles on the table, clothes on backs, and Eddie on his way to family fortune. The boy, with another year to win his Mechanical Engineering degree, is an even guess in the steeplechase, and has the indefinite something called "rhythm," or the muscular music which enables slight men to perform marvels of speed and power.

Or maybe you prefer to have this thing called "timing," as in the case of the Red Sox' Ted Williams, who weighs 172 but belts some home runs that match Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig at their longest. I trust you will excuse this thin veneer of the B. A. A.'s three-ring, stupendous congregation of human antelopes—a three-hour, eye filling aggregation of marvellous masquillity.

'Short and Sweet,' Louis Promises

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (INS)—"Short and sweet" is Joe Louis' forecast for his 15-round heavyweight championship fight with Arturo Godoy in Madison Square Garden, tonight.

PREVIEW—Big Three of the Bees who will be in same huddle at Bradenton next week. Left to right: Manager Casey Stengel, Coach George Kelly, Owner Bob Quinn, all of the Bees.

"Ain't no use messin' round with him," said Joe with an earnestness that boded no good for the health and happiness of the dauntless Chilean.

"I hear this Godoy's pretty tough, and I ain't takin' no chances. Can I finish him with one punch, I don't so."

It seems everybody in the world—except Godoy himself—believes Godoy can't possibly win.

That is why the Broadway bookies report not a dollar will change hands on a decision even at 20 to 1 but they're handing a ton of dough on the number of rounds the fight will last.

$100,000 GATE SEEN

Latest odds quoted are 6 to 1 Godoy won't go the route; 9 to 2 he won't last 10 heats, and 5 to 1 he won't answer the bell for the sixth canto.

This is the most one-sided betting affair ever seen for a heavyweight title fight. Yet, although nobody—except Godoy—gives Godoy a chance to win, Frosty the Snowman Jacobs assures us the gate will gross at least $100,000, solely because the fight mob wishes to see the style with which Joe, the artist, paints Godoy upon the canvas.

This will be Joe's ninth defense of his title and the third time he has defended against a foreigner, the others being Tommy Farr and Max Baer.

Farr went the route, but Natie Mann went out in three rounds, Harry Thomas in five, Schmeling, John Henry Lewis and Jack Roper in one round each, Tommy Galento in four and Bob Pastor in 11.

GODOY TO USE CROUCH
The cauliflower cognoscenti ask: "What's this guy got to lick Lewis with?" And we relayed this query as tactfully as possible to the bout-headed Chilean.

Godoy makes no secret of his plan of battle. He intends to fight from his usual crouch, get in close and, if possible, weaken Louis with left hooks to the body.

It's as simple as that—on paper, Arturo may find his plan a little difficult of fulfillment in the ring. Godoy never has been even knocked down in a fight, much less counted out, but as Louis said when informed of this, "there's a first time for everything." And tonight probably will be the first time for Godoy.

Quinn Opens Baseball Season By Hop to Florida Rules Meeting

By HERB FINNEGAN

Bob Quinn shook hands with Son John and Secretary Duffy Lewis at the Back Bay Station this morning, stepped aboard the Atlantic Seaboard special bound for Florida, and thus Boston's 1940 baseball pre-season activities opened officially.

The Bees' president is bound for Belleair, Fla., to attend the major league baseball meeting which starts Monday, but before he arrives there another Boston baseball executive will have departed for the same destination.

He is Eddie Collins, general manager of the Red Sox, who leaves for Belleair tomorrow morning and who today announced the sale of Elden Auker to the St. Louis Browns.

ROOKIES LEAVE THURSDAY

Of more consequence than the rules meeting in baseball follows, however, is the departure next Thursday of the Bees rookies contingent, some of whom will stick with the club, others of whom will form the backbone of the Bees' farm at Hartford, to be managed this year by Jack Onslow.

Those who will get an early start for the Bradenton camp will be:

Phil Masi, Seb Stelt, Chester Ross, Joe Callahan, Ralph Hodgins, Tom Esley, Joe Antolick, Mike Sandlock, Les Scarsella, Robert Bates, Bill Wietmann, George Barnicle, Carver Howell, Robert Loane, Joe Fryer, Al Roberge, Neil Strinevech, Chester Clements, Stan Andrews, James Hickey, Alva Javery, Allen Viegut, Joe Gulleddge, Frank Lamanna, Arthur Johnson, Jewett Wolfe, Will Boehringer.

Several of these boys, notably the Neapolitan delegation of Masi, Stelt and Scarsella, figure importantly in the Bees plans for 1940, and for that reason the two weeks Casey Stengel, George Kelly and Jack Onslow will spend with them will be as vital as any two weeks in the campaign.

FLYING FINN ALL RIGHT—Magic Eye camera reveals Taisto Maki's flawless running form as he warms up on Columbia's board track. This action sequence, first ever taken of Maki, shows that his stride, arm action, body and head position are perfect, in the best Finnish tradition. Maki bends forward more from the waist than did Paavo Nurmi, Maki's trainer and adviser. But Taisto has Nurmi's habit of holding his head very steady, eyes straight ahead, maybe set on the 8:50 two mile he says he can run.

MACPHAIL BLASTS LANDIS

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 9 (INS)—Larry MacPhail, general manager of the Dodgers, was of the opinion today that Baseball Commissioner Landis wants to "socialize baseball."

In attacking the commissioner's "seven-point edit against the farm system," MacPhail asserted that baseball operators throughout the country think the commissioner's plan "the most impractical thing that ever confronted baseball."

"Baseball was at its highest level with an increase from 75 minor league clubs to 308 in the last 10 years," MacPhail told 500 Lansing business men.

"Now baseball operators tell me personally they will not be able to exist. Moreover, 1500 to 2000 ball players probably will be inactive this year."

"If something is not done to alleviate the present condition, professional football or some other sport will succeed baseball as the national pastime."

Cunningham-Fenske, Lash-Rice Top Glittering Unicorn Slate

The Boston Athletic Association will sponsor the 51st annual Unicorn games in the Garden tomorrow, bringing together the outstanding track and field performers of the nation.

Every one of the nine special invitation events is studded with stars.

In addition, a well-balanced program of 16 relay races has been arranged, in which the outstanding college teams of the East will battle for supremacy.

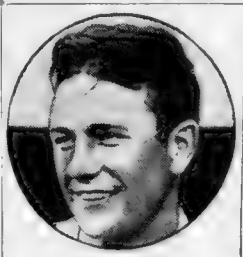

The attention of a packed Garden audience will be centered on the Hollis 600, Lapham 1000, Hunter Mile and Billings two-mile.

Never before have New England track followers been offered such a list of entries as that which will grace the program in the Hollis 600.

The world's indoor record holder for the distance at 1m. 11.1s, Jimmy Herbert of N. Y. University, winner of the Millrose 600, will be favored to win. But he will have to show his flying spines to Charlie Beetham, 69th Regt. A. A. N. Y., the 1939 indoor A. A. U. 600 meters titleholder; Johnny Quigley, fleet Manhattan freshman, who won the quarter at Princeton last June; William Fritz of Queens University, Kingston, Ont., winner of the event last year, and Dick Gill, captain of the B. A. A.

OLYMPIC CHAMPION

Those two great Negro athletes, John Woodruff, the Olympic 600-meter champion, and John Borican, Shore A. C. Elberon, N. J., world's record holder for the half mile, two-thirds mile and three-quarter mile indoor, and winner of the 1000 yards at last year's games, will headline the Lapham Special.

GENE VENZKE
Forgotten Man?

Opposition will be furnished by Howe Bork, 69th Regt. A. A. N. Y.; Wayne Rideout of Texas; Don Smith, University of Maine; Lynn Radcliffe, Syracuse, and Marian Woods, B. A. A.

When the runners for the Hunter Mile are called there will be plenty of fluttering hearts in expectation of a new Boston mile mark. The Old Master, Glenn Cunningham, making his final Boston appearance as a competitor, will be out to win against "Chuck" Fenske, Wisconsin graduate and winner of the Wannamaker Mile; Gene Venzke, New York A. C.; Louis Zamperini, California, and Blaine Rideout of Texas.

What a field and what a race should result.

Another clash of champions will result in the Billings two-mile with Don Lash, Indiana State policeman and world's record holder, out to give conqueror Gregory Rice of Notre Dame a real lesson in running.

Dominic DiMag Sets .350 Mark As 1940 Goal

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9 (AP)—Sam Chapman, Philadelphia Athletics outfielder, and Dominic DiMaggio, who goes up to the Boston Red Sox for a fly-chasing chance, have ambitions to do some heavy hitting.

Chapman, who joined the Athletics from the University of California two years ago, said he hoped to clout for a .350 average. He signed his contract a week ago.

"Domink, youngest of the DiMaggios, hopes to 'hit twice my weight.' He weighs 177½ pounds.

GOODWINS WIN

The Goodwins basketball team chalked up another victory by beating the Taunton Lumbermen, 59-33, in a benefit game played at the Lynn English gymnasium, Lynn.

A Lynn boy, Jimmy Hegan, was the star, caging 19 points.

Cunningham to Run Here Despite Result Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, the greatest miler of the "thirties," will try again tonight to regain the prestige he has lost this year by being beaten in his last four major starts.

If he finishes anything worse than first in the third annual Penn A. C. meet, he may quit competition soon.

The barrel-chested Kansan, who a few years ago turned in the world's fastest time for a mile, 4:04, said at the start of the current indoor campaign that he was thinking of retirement.

Regardless of his performance here, Cunningham expects to compete in the Hunter mile at Boston tomorrow night and in the NYAC and National meets in New York.

But Cunningham's showing tonight against Chuck Fenske, twice his conqueror, may influence his conqueror, may influence "Old Leather Legs" retirement thoughts. If he loses again to the bespectacled Wisconsin runner, Cunningham may decide that his remaining competitive days are few.

"It all depends on how well he does," declared Lawson Robertson, famous track coach and director of the meet. "It may be his last race in Philadelphia, at least."

DAVE WILSON'S FORM AT HIALEAH PARK

BEST BET—CARDINALS IN SIXTH RACE
HIALEAH PARK, Fla., Feb. 9—A faltering but creditable third to Many Stings and Gridiron the last time out at this strip in a Grade "A" Handicap affair, Cardinals appears to be nicely placed in the sixth heat here this afternoon.

With Gridiron scheduled to run as a staminate, the pair will unquestionably leave at odds-on favorites and they may finish 1-2.

FIRST RACE—Purse $80, special weights, two-year-olds colts and geldings, four furlongs.

Ski Scribblings

BY "TAP" GOODENOUGH

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF ON SKIS! "The Boston Ski Party" will take place next Wednesday night, Feb. 14! . . . Unlike the famous Tea Party of old, however, this affair is a dance sponsored by the Oshoni Ski Club of Boston, a member of the U. S. E. A. S. A., to be run at the Captain's Cabin in the Myles Standish Hotel for the benefit of the club's lodge in Bridgewater, N. H.

Melodious music will be furnished by Harold Doney's orchestra, and this get-together will be featured by yodelling, polkas, and modern dancing. One room will be set apart for a skiers' song fest.

Many are going just to see how their friends look in street clothes! Many celebrities of the ski world have been invited to attend this gay event, including Hannes Schneider, Oscar Cyr, Fred Nachbaur, Wendy Hilly, Ted Hunter, Bob Livermore, and ski writers from the various journals . . .

Clubs invited to participate in the fun are the AMC, Newton Ski Runners, Wildcats, Winchester Ski Club, "33" Ski Club, Hochflagers, Black and Blue Trail Smashers, Thompson Ski Club, Hochgebirgers, and the White Mountain Ski Runners . . .

During the evening, a pair of skis will be raffled off, the proceeds going to aid the grand work of the National Ski Patrol . . .

SKIS WAXED SHOES

A Ski Patrol will be on hand at this dance to guard skiers' safety. Dances on your own feet, not your partner's, and if the floor becomes crowded, yell "Track!" Ski wax on shoes is not permitted . . .

Ray Howlett, president of the Oshoni outfit, expects a large gathering at this fest. His club is growing rapidly, and their headquarters in the Newfound Region are a delight to skiers. Their racing team may soon be heard from in skiing circles.

CARNIVAL CHATTER

On thousand gorgeous girls—the Fair Sex on skis—plus one thousand good-looking guys equals four thousand skis, and these add up to make the 30th annual DARTMOUTH WINTER CARNIVAL! Girls from colleges the country over are invading Hanover for this big event today and Saturday. This quiet little town will be transformed into crazy quilt of color and beauty, climaxed when Norman Rockwell, well-known magazine cover artist, will choose the carnival queen from this myriad of "Jates." His work will be cut out, because the Dartmouth boys can pick 'em! . . .

Incidentally, skiing will hold the spotlight at this carnival of national interest. Teams are entered from Amherst, Harvard, Middlebury, McGill, New Hampshire, Wil-iams and Yale to oppose the Big Green. The meet should be wide-open and offer keen competition for the title. Watch Bobby Clark from U. N. H., Percy Rideout of Dartmouth and Eddie Gignac of Middlebury!

OFFENS WITH DOWNHILL RACE

The first event on the thrilling program is the downhill race at Moose Mountain, 20 miles north of Hanover, where racers will dive downward in a dizzy descent! This afternoon the Eastern Intercollegiate speed skating championships take place at the same time as the cross-country ski race.

Saturday starts with slalom races at 9 o'clock, girls' slalom at 10:30, Dartmouth's Harvard hockey match, ski jumping at 2 o'clock and Dartmouth-Yale basketball at 3:30.

Theme sculpture and central attraction in the display of "art before freezing" is the 32-foot "Kwan-ukawa," meaning the "Star Shooter," an Indian poised in the act of bending his bow and aiming his arrow at the skies. Nat Sample, 16, is the creator of this massive design. Twenty truck loads of snow went into the making of the 1000 cubic foot base and the figure, made up of pipe, ice, snow, and chicken wire, will extend twenty-two feet above the base. Some eleven tons of snow and ice are used in the base and five or six tons for the figure! . . . WAH HOO WAH!!

Other carnivals are scheduled at Keene and Rochester, N. H., with competitors and visitors expected from many parts of New England. Races of the New England Sled Dog Club are set to be run at Keene Saturday afternoon as part of the carnival program . . .

SKI SCOOPS: A week's skiing at Mt. Mansfield for a total cost of 35 cents is the achievement of Charlie Bell, Boston skier! Strange but true . . .

Accompanied by Fred Miller and Phil Canser, Charlie spent the week in a 6 by 10 foot cabin two miles up on the side of mighty Mansfield. Fred and Phil slept on the floor, leaving no room for Charlie. Of course he could not sleep outdoors as the temperature dropped to at least 30 degrees below zero every night! But along one wall was a bench 5 feet 6 inches long and 15 inches wide. At night, Bell would roll into his blankets on the bench, and the two lads would lie on the intruded skiers, these boys, with plenty of spirit! . . .

Asa Osborn has been seen recently on the Pasquaney slopes at Bridgewater, N. H., giving ski lessons to several girls! . . .

A well known Boston lawyer, Hugh Shaw, is still going strong on skis, and keeps up with the boys . . .

The new $37,900 chair lift for skiers on Mt. Mansfield, Vt., will be ready for use next October. This device will transport 203 skiers per hour to the top! . . .

BAGBY PRAISES SOX GENEROSITY

Auker, Key That Failed in '39, Sent to Browns

By HERB FINNEGAN

Two names have been dropped from the 1940 Red Sox playing roster, which have been off the presses only a week. The first was that of Moe Berg, erudite catcher, who was immediately signed as bull pen coach. The second, announced today, was that of Elden Auker, 6-2 submarine artist, who was sold to the St. Louis Browns for an "unannounced sum."

Auker was a key man in the Red Sox plans a year ago. He looked like a 20-game winner, and he should have been judging by his record in Detroit. So eager was the Sox to get him that they traded the established Pinky Higgins to the Tigers for him. They also got Chet Morgan, outfielder, who probably never will make the grade. So they parcelled out a good ball player like Higgins away.

Auker never did get going with the Sox, finishing with a 9-10 record, and an earned run average of 5.36, the worst on the club. But he pitched plenty of no-hitters in the club house. "He didn't fit into our 1940 plans," announced G. M. Eddie Collins. Nicely said. The Sox would rather win them on the field. Those club house low-hitters don't win pennants.

Auker may take a grip on himself, now that he is down with the regular tenants, but it is doubtful he lost his fast ball and with it his effectiveness. But he's still pitching those 1935 World Series games in the club house.

One year ago the boys were predicting that the Sox would ride to the pennant on the pitching arms of Auker, Bagby, Rich, Galehouse and Wilson. All were scheduled for regular duty. Nothing was expected of Grove, whose arm had gone "dead" on him the previous July.

Auker, Bagby and Galehouse were disappointments from the start. Rich started like a house afire, then came up with a sore arm in late May and was a helplessness thereafter that he was finally shipped to Little Rock. Bagby was pathetic after his excellent freshman season in '39 and also wound up at Little Rock.

Galehouse, like Auker, remained with the Sox all season and, again like Auker, won only nine games. Rich won only four for the Sox before his injury. Wilson won only 11 over the season, losing a like number. So, instead of 85 or 90 wins from the five of them, the Sox got only 38. They did well to finish second, at that, didn't they?

If it hadn't been for Grove, Dickman, Heving and Ostermueller, no telling what might have become of the Sox. Grove won his customary 15. Dady came up with his while losing 7, and Dickman and Heving, besides saving myriad games, won 8 and 11, respectively, in their own right.

Bagby, incidentally, sent in his signed contract today. He was the 25th of the 38 squad members to agree to terms. The Bees came up with three more—Outfielders Debs Garms and Ralph Hodgins, and Pitcher Bill Swift. The last named was obtained from the Pirates.

ELDEN AUKER
Goes to New Fields

Bagby enclosed a nice long letter with his contract, and so delighted was Collins with the tone of it that he hustled it along to Manager Joe Cronin at Hot Springs, Va.

Bagby was delighted, Collins said, that the Sox hadn't cut his contract. He had learned by experience, he added, that a pitcher couldn't live on his previous year's record, and he promised to turn over a new leaf this year and go all out from the start. He anticipates a fine season, one equal to his freshman year in '38 when he defeated the Yanks in the opening game and went on to win 15 for the season. It would seem that the return to Little Rock, night ball and bus rides had brought him to his senses.

Eddie Collins and Bob Quinn, will go to Sarasota and Bradenton, respectively, after their rules session with Landis et al. Mrs. Collins and son Eddie of the A's are already at Sarasota. So is Mrs. Joe Cronin and Tom.

Quinn will visit Bradenton to look over the playing field. If son John can convince him that everything is O. K. in the North, Bob may stay down there until the squad comes North. He needs it. He's still pretty weak from his recent illness.

Herb Hash, young Red Sox rookie from Minneapolis, who won 22 games for the Millers, is already at Sarasota awaiting the arrival of the squad. That shows he's got the right spirit.

N. E.'s First Trial Opens at Arena

The first elimination series in the annual New England A. A. U. boxing championships will be staged next Monday night at the Arena where the cream of the talent from six states hopes to qualify for the title bouts themselves on March 11.

There will be four trial series in all, on successive weeks, so that the boys who don't make the grade next week can try again later on.

Among those who already have sent in their entries to Tom Kanaly at the Arena are: Harold Santos, Boston, and Roderick Almeida, East Boston, 112 pounds; Frank Sidel, South Boston, and Ray Tyner, Framingham, 135 pounds; Vince Sado, Revere, and Arthur Hill, Haverhill, 147 pounds; Joe O'Hearn, Somerville, James Marks, South Boston, Tony Bonanno, Malden, and Joe Marucco, North Adams, 1939 state champion, 160 pounds, and Ralph Williams, Revere, heavyweight division.

JUNIOR, LETO WIN

It took Paul Junior, 134½, Lewiston, the champion, just one minute and 35 seconds of the first round to dispose of Honey Melody, 135, Charlestown, the challenger, in the 12-round feature bout at the Garden before 4000 fans.

The Lewiston larriper retained his lightweight crown with a lightning-fast attack, dumping Honey to the canvas seven times before Referee Johnny Martin stepped in and awarded the bout to Junior.

In the co-feature, a 10-rounder, Jimmy Leto, 148, Hartford, Ct., handed George Martin, 145½, South End, the first knockout of his career, sending Martin into dreamland in the sixth round two seconds before the bell.

The first round about even. In the second, Leto's sharp left hooks put him out front. A hard right that rocked Leto evened matters up for George in the third. From that point in Leto took the upper hand. In the sixth Martin started to rally, opening a cut over Leto's left eye. The Hartford Hurricane scored with a sharp right as George rushed in, knocking him down for nine seconds.

Just barely getting up, Martin was dropped again, this time for the ten toll, ending the battle.

Billy Tordiglione, North End, scored his third straight professional triumph and his second consecutive one-round knockout, chilling Johnny Dougillo, Grafton, in a scheduled four-rounder.

Eddie Ellis, Quincy, made a runaway of his eight-rounder with Jack Dubois, Lewiston, winning every round to garner a unanimous vote.

Dusty Brown, Fall River, recovered from a second round knockdown to come on and win a split decision in another six-rounder, over Leo DuLmaine, Worcester.

Crown Queen

LEWISTON, Me., Feb. 9 (AP) Miss Carolyn Hayden, of Newton, Mass., was crowned queen of the annual Bates winter carnival here by President Clifton D. Gay.

Her attendants included Hazel Turner of Milton, Mass., and Elizabeth MacGregor, of Needham, Mass.
